Maximalists Seize Petrograd and Overthrow Kerensky Government--To Propose Separate Peace With Germany

FIVE VICTIMS OF MIDNIGHT FIRE BURIED TODAY

A most extraordinary funeral procession passed through the streets of Lowell this afternoon when four coffins bearing the bodies of the first four victims of the fire in Broughton street at midnight, Tuesday, followed by eight carriages containing mourners, wended their way from the funeral parlors of C. H. Mello's Sons in Market street to St. Casimir's church in Lakewood avenue. The cortege of four hearses, the first of its kind ever seen in this city, attracted the attention of hundreds of people along the route of the procession.

The cortege reached the church at 1:30 o'clock and before the four coffins had been borne into the church, undertaker Amodeo Archambault arrived with the fifth victim of the fire, who passed away this morning at St. John's hospital.

The funeral was that of Stanley Podgornik, and his daughters, Wladyslava and Jan Podgornik, the latter aged two months, who died this morning.

STRIKE AT WATERTOWN ARSENAL SPREADS

WATERTOWN, Nov. 8.—Carpenters, electricians, plumbers, steamfitters and laborers today joined in the strike started yesterday by structural iron workers to enforce closed shop conditions on new construction at the government arsenal here. Nearly 300 men failed to report. Col. H. C. Dickson, the commandant, said:

The strikers, according to officials, are members of Boston unions, men affiliated with local organizations remaining at work. One of the three contracting firms which employ only union men has not been affected.

knocked at the door or rang the bell twice, doubting whether the first knock or the first ringing of the bell had been loud enough to be heard at the back of the house or away upstairs?

We do not dig up a flower or a little tree that we planted to see whether it is growing, but we must see that proper care is given to make sure our first work is not lost.

In other words, we must do what we did when we rang the bell twice to be sure not to lose our time for nothing.

Whatever we do we must do well, as we did when we built this store for people to use. We are still not satisfied with our store. We are trying to make it better all the time. You can not guess how many doors have to be knocked at, and how many difficulties we sometimes have to overcome to get trustworthy goods we sell.

CIVIL WAR THREATENED

Fall of Kerensky Brings Most Serious Crisis of War — May Set Up New Government in Moscow — Armed Clash Expected — Japan May Send Troops Into Russia — Italians Fleeing Across Venetian Plains

Premier Kerensky and his government have been deposed by the extremist elements in Petrograd, plunging Russia into another of the numerous crises which she has been called upon to meet this year.

The present situation, however, seems by far the most serious that has presented itself, overshadowing in its potentialities all the other movements of the moment in connection with the great war.

Threat of Civil War

Threat of the civil war also is seen in the pronouncement of the radicals against elements in the army that do not bow to the new regime and declaration of forceful measures against the protracted classes.

It remains to be seen, however, how far the Petrograd radicals will be backed up in their movement by the Russian democracy throughout the nation. So far there is no hint as to what measure of support they may expect outside of Petrograd.

Italians Still Retreating

Across the Venetian plains the Italians continue to retire to a new defense line where a stand probably will be made to stop an Austro-German advance upon Venice.

The morale of the Italian armies is improving and British and French troops are speeding to northern Italy to the aid of Gen. Cadorna's harassed soldiers, who have now given up more than 200 square miles of Italian territory.

Petrograd Seized

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Maximalists have seized control of Petrograd and Premier Kerensky has been deposed, according to a dispatch from the semi-official Russian news agency.

Leon Trotsky, president of the Petrograd council of soldiers' and workers' delegates, issued a declaration to the effect that the provisional government was no longer in existence and that some of its members had been arrested. The preliminary parliament has been dissolved.

To Propose Immediate Peace

The Russian news agency, which, as reported last night, was seized by the Maximalists, sends the following dispatch from Petrograd, dated 9:30 o'clock last night:

"The day brought certain changes in the general situation in the capital. The Maximalist movement made fresh and fairly appreciable progress, but no disorders have taken place."

Towards 5 o'clock in the afternoon the military revolutionary committee of the soldiers' and workers' delegates issued a proclamation stating that Petrograd was in its hands, thanks to the assistance of the garrison, which enabled the coup d'etat to be brought about without bloodshed.

U.S. WAR BOARD IN LONDON TO CONFER WITH ALLIES

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The special American commission to the allied conference arrived in London last night. It is headed by Col. E. M. House as special commissioner with the honorary rank of special ambassador.

"We had a pleasant and uneventful voyage," Col. House told The Associated Press. "The weather was fair. There were no submarines. It was the best vacation I have had in two years."

Admiral Benson had an early call to make on Admiral Jellicoe, first sea lord, and Gen. Bliss expected to visit the war office during the day.

"I am impatient to see with my own eyes the great efforts England is making towards solving the shipping problem," said Mr. Colby, "and with this end in view will pay an early visit to the great shipyards. America is now fully awake to the importance of tonnage in this war and is carrying out a program of unparalleled magnitude. Shipbuilding now takes priority over all other work in our country."

Some of the members of the mission are planning an early visit to France.

BUSINESS BRISK AT WAR WORK HEADQUARTERS

Mrs. Thomas Doe and a committee of assistants were in charge of the Red Cross canteen for soldiers at the war work headquarters in Merrimack street today. The work of the canteen is progressing favorably and during the evening the attendance is greatest. The soldiers' lounge upstairs is also filling the wants of visiting fighting men to a great extent and provisions have been made to accommodate a large number of men from Ayer next Saturday night.

SEVEN PERSONS KILLED IN COLLAPSE OF BUILDING

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Five women and two men are believed to have been killed in the collapse of three floors of a building in Brooklyn occupied by a concern supplying provisions to the United States government. An explosion and fire followed.

One body, that of Miss Josephine Johanns, was recovered from the ruins, and firemen are searching for others.

Heavy machinery stored on the upper floors is believed responsible for the collapse of the building. It dropped to the cellar causing the explosion of an ammonia tank.

Not to Discuss Peace

The members of the mission arose late this morning, much refreshed after their first comfortable night's sleep in many days. The first thing they did was to go into conference, with Col. House presiding. The meeting lasted an hour. Col. House outlined a tentative program for the next few days, calling for a series of conferences with British officials. Each member of the mission will discuss his particular work with British officials in charge of similar activities in England.

progress of the Italian retreat from the Dolomite and Carnic Alps, nor is there any indication where this retirement will halt.

While the Tagliamento line became untenable through the drying up of the river, the streams behind Gen. Cadorna's forces, and less susceptible to sudden changes, the Italians also have the advantage of more railroad lines and less mileage from important ports and manufacturing centers. The Austro-Germans, on the other hand, are getting farther away from their bases and their lines of supply and communication must be built up on the ruins left behind by the Italians.

British Success in West

In the capture of the important position of Passchendaele, northeast of Ypres, on Tuesday, the British took 400 prisoners. Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria did not attempt counter attacks yesterday, giving the Canadians time to strengthen the new position, probably the most valuable yet taken in the Flanders advance. From Passchendaele the British runs can reach many important points and the British now threaten the whole German line from the coast to Lille.

FIRE FIRST SHOT AT GERMANS

First American Artillery Unit to Establish Contact With Germans

Returns From Trenches as Band Plays "The Campbells Are Coming"

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Nov. 7.—(By The Associated Press)—The first American artillery unit to establish contact with the Germans came back to its billets today. The men were tired and muddy, but still as enthusiastic a lot of soldiers as ever came out of gun pits. The artillery had a longer stay at the front than the infantry and they came back, men and horses, wet to the bone, covered with mud and ready to sleep.

Their "home-coming" was one that will long be remembered in this section of France. It was late in the day when long lines of marching soldiers and straining horses were seen rounding a small mountain many miles away. From the village toward which they were marching the column could be seen winding around the mountain to the valley upon a nearer hill and then down again. The rain was beating in their faces and a village snuggled in a valley came into their view as they crossed the crest of the hill. Below them stood a group in uniform. Above the group floated the American flag and a number of children were gathered about. Suddenly the band—the group of uniforms was a band—started to play a tune that brought a smile to the face of even the most tired artilleryman in the column. It was "The Campbells Are Coming." Some of the artillerymen cheered and the hearers of the red battery pennants raised themselves in their saddles and waved the pennants.

The entire command was immediately drawn up on a hillside and a gun, covered with camouflage paint, was drawn out in front. On the gun shield an artilleryman had written in chalk: "The first gun for the Germans." The colonel in command spoke to one of the townspeople a moment and addressing the men, told them the people of the village wished to do honor to the gun and its crew and to the American army. The children gathered around and placed a floral wreath over the gun barrel and a bunch of wild flowers into the empty case of the first shot fired. The regimental band then played the American and French national anthems.

That was all the ceremony, but the sight of Americans returning from combat with the Germans cheered the populace of the village so that when the troops dispersed many of the men and many women came up to them either to shake hands or to put their arms affectionately around their shoulders. There is not much sentiment in the makeup of an American artilleryman. His one idea is that he is France to fight, so it took a moment or two for the men to decide to accept the demonstration of approval. Even when this was done the Americans were more or less embarrassed and many actually blushed.

Tonight the artillery men turned in at 6 o'clock. Tomorrow they will not be called out until hours after the regular time. Despite the hardships not a man was heard to grumble except about the fact that no mail from home was waiting for him. Every one declared enthusiastically that the firing of shells at the Boche would be "fine business." All were anxious to go back again.

In this command there was not one casualty despite the length of its stay at the front. The fact that the Germans shelled the American artillery heavily several times. The officers said the night the American trench was raided the artillery got into action quickly and poured a counter barrage into No Man's Land. The members of the crew which fired the first shot at the Germans admitted that they enjoyed the experience greatly. One gunner remarked that he would rather have had that experience and honor as a "back private" than to be a major general. The crew is composed of youngsters. They come from South Bend, New York, Minneapolis, Chicago, Baltimore, New Orleans and Douglas, Ark. After a short rest this artillery contingent will be sent to other camps to instruct artillerymen who have not yet been at the front.

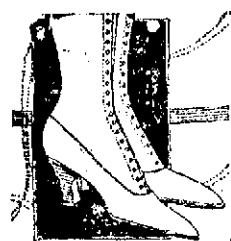

BABY IS FIFTH VICTIM OF TUESDAY NIGHT'S TENEMENT HOUSE FIRE

Jennie Podgoral, aged two months, died at St. John's hospital at 8:13 o'clock this morning, she being the fifth of the victims of the fire which gutted the 12-tenement house at 41 Broughton avenue, off Lakeview avenue, Tuesday night. The little one was badly burned about the arms and neck, and was one of the children which was thrown from a third story window. She was hurried to the hospital, where everything possible was done to save her life.

Mrs. Karolina Podgoral, aged 24 years, mother of the child, is also in serious condition at St. John's hospital. She is suffering from burns about both arms, hands, neck and chest and abrasions on the face and a fracture of the ankle. She was the woman who jumped into the arms of Patrolman James Guilman. Her name is on the dangerous list and little hope is entertained for her recovery.

The other five patients at St. John's hospital, who were taken from the fire, are resting comfortably and undoubtedly will recover, according to a report from the hospital. They are, as follows: Mrs. Katrina Wilk, 53 years, fracture of the right arm. Stanislaw Mashonka, 12 years, burns on arms, hands, neck and face. Melia Mashonka, five years, burns on face and abrasions on arms. Annie Zyzczniak, four years, arms and face burned. John Zyzczniak, seven years, arms and face burned. Felix Mashonka, aged 46 years, who suffered from burns about the face and hands and also internal injuries, is on the dangerous list at the Lowell hospital and little hope is entertained for his recovery.

U. S. GUNNER SANK U-BOAT

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Nov. 8.—Information that an American shell fired by an American naval gunner sank a Teutonic submarine in the Mediterranean is contained in a report that has been made to the navy department by the officers of an American freight steamship which arrived here recently, it was learned today.

The vessel, of about 3000 tons gross, was returning from an Italian port in ballast after taking a cargo of war munitions from America to Italy. A report of her narrow escape from a torpedo was recently made public, but the fate of her attacker was not mentioned. The torpedo was discovered approaching from the starboard side at about 1000 yards, and the crew, expecting an explosion, hurried to the port rail, arriving in time to see the torpedo emerge from under the ship and pass harmlessly on.

HAVERHILL CRIPPLE FINDS HIS "LOST" LEGS

HAVERHILL, Nov. 8.—Haverhill has lost one legless man and found a pair of "lost" legs. Explosion? No, selling pencils.

For a long time a "poor cripple" evidently minus a left hand and apparently minus both legs below the knees, has been sitting on the sidewalks of the city, cap in his hand and arms outstretched, imploring the charity of passers-by. He usually proffered chewing gum or pencils.

Yesterday the legless man was plucking his meagre trade from a cold street at the entrance to a narrow alley off Main street. A motor truck drove in view and crossed the street to enter the alley. The man shouted a warning at once to the driver and the cripple. The man jumped to help the legless man. When they saw the man under his arms to help him to safety, Haverhill's legless vendor arose wrathfully on two sound legs and walked hastily away. He was a well-known old lady who bought his wares.

FIRST STREET BOULEVARD CONFERENCE SATURDAY

A conference relative to the building of the state highway from First street from a point near the First Pentecostal church to the car barn in First street will be held Saturday morning at city hall, those to participate being Engineer George H. Pillsbury of the state highway commission, Commissioner Charles J. Murray, City Engineer Stephen Kearney and City Solicitor William D. Regan.

The conference will be in relation to filling in some parts of the road before the winter is over so that everything will be in shape to start work on the building of the road as soon as spring sets in. According to a decree recently issued by the state highway commission, the following awards will be made for the taking of land and buildings:

First Pentecostal church, 132.36 square feet of land, $100.00; First Baptist Nursery assembly, 339.68 square feet of land, $115.00; Sarah Hagopian, 230.74 square feet of land and two buildings, $220.00; George W. Hubbard, 5000 square feet of land, $1850.00.

Sewer Hearings
Commissioner Morse of the streets and highways department will conduct hearings at city hall on the evening of Nov. 14 at 8 o'clock, and on the evening of the 15th at 8 o'clock, to wind up the street and sewer petitions for the year. The hearings scheduled to be held on that date are of the following kind:

William E. Morse and others that a sidewalk of eggstones and cinders be laid on the northerly side of Main street from Newbury street to a distance of about 275 feet.

Mary E. Lennon and Katherine L. Welch that a sidewalk of eggstones and cinders be laid out and constructed from the easterly line of Gorham street to the intersection of Seneca and Newbury streets.

Martha C. Babkir that the sewer in Orchard street be extended to drain her premises.

Thomas Theriault and others that a sewer be laid in Circuit avenue from the end of the present sewer easterly to drain premises numbered 36.

Arthur Redgrave and others that a sewer be laid in Easton street from Acton street to Bolton street.

Sugar Is Short
The shortage of sugar is being felt by the charity department and unless an order is received for 10 tons of sugar the poorest of the city will be all out of sugar in a couple of days. Supt. SOUTH BOSTON SOLDIER KILLED NEAR AYER

AYER, Nov. 8.—The body of a soldier found on the street car tracks at Sherley near here, last night, was identified today as that of John J. Corcoran of South Boston, a member of the 501st Infantry regiment. An investigation to determine the exact cause of his death was ordered by military authorities in view of the statement by the motorman that the body was lying on the track when the car struck it.

M. and they are feeling fine. There was a little seasickness on the journey across, but Private Chappell was fortunately exempted from usual seasickness and having soap is made, and a box containing these articles has already been sent to the Lowell boy by his parents.

CAPTURE OF PASCHENDAELE CONSIDERED OF EXTRAORDINARY IMPORTANCE

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The capture of Paschendale is dealt with in the editorials in this morning's newspapers as of extraordinary importance and as completing the long and persistent fight for the ridges north and northeast of Ypres which it is contended are the symbols of a great strategic conception for the allies. The possession of the ridges gives the dominating position in West Flanders. Whenever we choose we should be able to utilize with great profit the positions we hold today.

"The capture of Paschendale is one of the greatest events of the war, the Ypres salient is a thing of the past, and rather than a box containing these articles has already been sent to the Lowell boy by his parents."

Summary: First, immediate conclusion of the war, for which purpose the new government must propose an armistice to the belligerents; second, the handing over of the land to the peasants; third, settlement of the economic crisis.

"At the close of the sitting a declaration was read from the representatives of the democratic maximalist party of the soldiers and workmen's delegates, stating that the party disapproved of the coup d'etat and withdrawal from the front of soldiers and workmen's delegates."

Civil War Threatened
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Kerensky's fall and the collapse of his government in Petrograd into the hands of the maximalists, who propose a separate peace with Germany, is regarded here as threatening Russia with the civil war which all her friends hoped to see avoided.

The state department, entirely without advice of its own, was silent, wishing to avoid making any statement until the situation could be accurately assessed on the basis of intimate reports from Ambassador Francis at Petrograd.

Armed Clash Expected
The general opinion here among those in a position to be best informed of Russian affairs is that Kerensky and his followers probably will at once set up a new government at Moscow, leaving Petrograd to the maximalists and those troops that adhere to them. An armed clash is counted among the first probabilities, but it is said here that the greater part of the army is expected to remain loyal to the Kerensky government.

Radicals Seize Bank
PETROGRAD, Nov. 8.—An armed detachment, under orders of the maximalist revolutionary committee, has occupied the offices of the official Petrograd telegraph agency.

The maximalists also occupied the central telegraph office, the state bank and Marle palace, where the preliminary parliament had suspended its proceedings in view of the situation.

In the early hours of the morning a delegation of Cossacks appeared at the winter palace and told Premier Kerensky that they were disposed to carry out the government's orders concerning the guarding of the capital, but they insisted that if hostilities commenced it would be necessary for their government to be supplemented by infantry units.

They further demanded that the premier define the government's attitude toward the Bolsheviks, citing the release from custody of those who had been arrested for participation in the July disturbances. The Cossacks virtually made a demand that the government proclaim the Bolsheviks outlaws.

The premier replied: "I find it difficult to declare the Bolsheviks outlaws, but I shall do so as soon as the government toward the present Bolshevik activities is known."

Women Soldiers Guard Premier
The premier explained that those who had been released were on bail and that any of them found participating in new offenses against peace would be severely dealt with.

Numerous precautions have been taken by Premier Kerensky to thwart the threatened outbreak of the Bolsheviks. The soldiers guarding the government buildings have been replaced by men from the officers' training schools and have been placed at the embassies. The women's battalion is drawn up in the square in front of the winter palace.

The command on the northern front has informed the premier that his troops are against any demonstration and are ready to come to Petrograd to quell a rebellion if necessary.

Trotsky Threat to Execute Motions
Leon Trotsky, president of the central executive committee of the Petrograd council of soldiers and workmen's delegates, has informed members of the council that he has given strict orders against outlawry, and has threatened with death any persons attempting to carry out programs.

Trotsky added that it was not the intention of the workmen's and soldiers' delegates to be called shortly to the task of taking over control of the capital, for which all necessary arrangements had been perfected.

Not to Use Force Against Workmen
The government has decided not to use armed force at present against the military committee of the soldiers and workmen's delegates, but has ordered the ministry of justice to prosecute the members of the committee.

The revolutionary committee of the soldiers and workmen's delegates demanded the right to control the government.

COL. WARREN SWEETSER MOVEMENT FOR HIGHER BACK ON DUTY PASSENGER FARES

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Col. Warren E. Sweetser, former commander of the Sixth regiment, Mass. National Guard, has returned from Washington, having been declared perfectly free of tuberculosis. At the time the military and medical delegates were to observe only orders signed by the committee. Machine gun detachments moved to the soldiers and workmen's headquarters.

In addressing the preliminary parliament yesterday, Premier Kerensky charged the military committee of the soldiers and workmen's delegates with having distributed arms and ammunition to workmen.

"That is why I consider part of the population of Petrograd in a state of revolt," he said, "and have ordered an immediate inquiry and such arrests as are necessary. The government will persevere rather than cease to defend the honor, security and independence of the state."

The Petrograd military authorities yesterday broke off relations with the military committee of the soldiers and workmen's delegates, which ordered troops in the city to disobey the government and to defend the workingmen's quarters of the city and the centre of the capital were disconnected.

German Political Crisis
LONDON, Nov. 8.—The German political crisis is represented as being as acute as ever in special despatches from Amsterdam. Some say that Count von Hertling's chancellorship is in danger of immediate shipwreck.

The refusal of Herr Friedberg, leader of the national liberal party, to accept the vice-presidency of the Prussian ministry and the alleged certainty that Dr. Helfferich is to be retained as vice-chancellor are regarded as matters impossible of settlement.

Count von Hertling is reported to have succumbed to military and junker influence.

The Berliner Tageblatt refers to the reactionary forces opposing the nomination of progressive leaders. "The Koenigsche Zeitung blames the progressives and the socialists for the reawakening of the crisis and says that the prospect for a political truce has quite disappeared."

Two Surprise Attacks
PARIS, Nov. 8.—During the night we made two surprise attacks, one on the enemy trenches east of Rheims, the other in the Woivre area, near Nouilly and brought back prisoners," Count von Hertling is reported to have said in his official statement.

"In upper Alsace the attack which we made yesterday on the German positions at Schoenholz, it is now learned, caused the enemy to suffer heavy losses. The number of prisoners captured by us has reached 121 of whom two are officers."

Raid by Welsh Troops
LONDON, Nov. 8.—Welsh troops conducted a successful raid last night in the sector of Arruenteers," says today's report from army headquarters. "Fourteen prisoners were captured by us and other losses were inflicted on the enemy. Our own casualties were small."

CANCER ON INCREASE, VET PREVENTIVE WAYS ARE WELL KNOWN
The figures of the United States census mortality returns indicate that deaths from cancer are increasing in many districts in this country, numbering 30,000 and over in the United States and Canada in 1914.

Competent investigators estimated that in the year one woman in eight of those over 35 died of cancer, and one man in 14 died likewise.

At the present time there is no definite knowledge as to the cause of cancer, though various theories have been advanced, and many investigators are constantly engaged with the problem. Fortunately, there are measures of prevention which may be used to fight against the increase of cancer.

First there is the fact that cancer is not contagious.

Secondly, it is now well established that the majority of cases of cancer can be prevented by suitable operative measures if the condition is recognized promptly at its onset.

The onset of cancer is usually insidious. There is no pain associated with its beginning. Pain is a late symptom, occurring when the growth has become so extensive as to render measures for relief impracticable.

At first it starts in one small part and from that point gradually and steadily spreads till later it reaches a point where its removal is impossible. Persons over 35 should consult a competent physician whenever—

There is any persistent sore, ulceration and hardening of the skin. Moles and warts show a tendency to ulcerate, to bleed or to increase in size. Sores, thickening, or ulcers of the tongue and mouth are present.

GERMAN WHO FLED CAMP CAPTURED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—Hedwidge Tankie, who escaped from an enemy detention camp at Fort McIntosh near San Antonio, Tex., and was arrested here this week after his arrival from Mexico City, will be taken back to Fort McIntosh. Federal authorities said yesterday they had traced the man to Mexico, after his escape, and that he was back to the United States after conferring with German agents in the Mexican capital. Tankie came to this country soon after war was declared, and for a time worked in New Jersey. Later he appeared in several states under assumed names, and finally was arrested in Texas and interned. He escaped last June.

RED CROSS FACTORY FOR MANUFACTURE OF HOSPITAL GARMENTS OPENED

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A Red Cross factory for the manufacture of hospital garments, operated entirely by volunteers who serve without pay, began its active career today. More than one thousand workers, the majority of them women.

The factory will run five days a week for six hours a day. The workers are held to the same standards of efficiency as if they were being paid for wages and a fine will be imposed for unnecessary absence.

Eventually it is expected that the number of workers will be increased to 2500. More than 150 dozen hospital garments will be turned out weekly according to present estimates.

SECOND LIBERTY LOAN MISERABLE FROM FOOD CONSERVATION IN GREAT BRITAIN

TOTAL $4,617,532,300

Felt Wretched Until He Started To Take "Fruit-a-lives"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Americans responded to the call for a second Liberty loan by subscribing $4,617,532,300, an over-subscription by 51 per cent of the $3,000,000,000 asked, and only $285,000,000 less than the $5,000,000,000 maximum fixed by the treasury.

Tabulations completed last night showed that every federal reserve district exceeded its quota and 5,468,000 persons subscribed in the big war financing operation, which Sec. McAdoo described as the greatest ever attempted by any government.

Half of the over-subscribed sum will be accepted, making the actual total of bonds to be issued $3,808,766,150.

Ninety-nine per cent of the subscribers will receive the amount for which they bargained, all subscriptions for $50,000 or less being allotted in full, and those above that amount being pared down in varying proportions, ranging from a 50 per cent allowance on subscriptions between $50,000 and $100,000 to 10 per cent for the largest single subscriptions of $50,000,000.

Angers Well for Future Loans

"The success of the second Liberty loan, like that of the first, is a distinct triumph for the people of the United States," said Secretary McAdoo last night. "It not only demonstrated their ability, patriotism and resources, but augurs the certain success of any future loans that may be offered by the government."

The secretary added a denial of reports that the third loan would be solicited in January 1918.

"In view of the large over-subscription of the second Liberty loan," he said, "I am glad to state that this will not be necessary."

It has been generally understood that the third loan would be sought probably in late February or early March next year.

The New York federal reserve district subscribed nearly three times as much as the second district on the list, Chicago. The results in each district follow:

	Total	Quota	P.C.
New York	$1,550,423,150	900,000,000	72
Chicago	585,523,250	420,000,000	39
Cleveland	436,106,500	300,000,000	52
Boston	416,950,500	300,000,000	52
Philadelphia	390,530,500	300,000,000	52
San Francisco	282,671,150	210,000,000	59
Richmond	201,212,500	120,000,000	68
St. Louis	184,230,150	120,000,000	53
Cincinnati	150,123,750	120,000,000	55
Memphis	110,532,600	105,000,000	34
Atlanta	95,935,750	80,000,000	13
Portland	77,839,350	75,000,000	4

Although only 1 per cent of subscriptions were for sums above $50,000, for which only partial allotments will be made, $1,229,000,000 or nearly half the big aggregate was made up by larger sums. More than three-quarters of a billion dollars were subscribed in individual amounts of more than $1,000,000.

Percentage of Allotments

The allotment of subscriptions over $50,000 was authorized by Secretary McAdoo as follows:

Between $50,000 and $100,000 inclusive, 50 per cent, but not less than $50,000 will be allotted, reducing $200,000,000 subscribed to $223,000,000 issued.
Between $100,000 and $200,000 inclusive, 75 per cent, but not less than $50,000 will be allotted, reducing $212,000,000 subscribed to $161,000,000 issued.
Between $200,000 and $1,000,000 inclusive, 50 per cent, but not less than $50,000, reducing $756,000,000 subscribed to $378,000,000.
Between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000 inclusive, 50 per cent, but not less than $50,000, reducing $170,000,000 subscribed to $85,000,000.
Between $5,000,000 and $30,000,000 inclusive, 42 per cent, but not less than $50,000.

than $4,000,000, reducing $250,000,000 subscribed to $103,000,000 issued.

Only 40.5 per cent, or $20,467,500, of the single $50,000,000 subscription, the largest received, will be allotted.

Second Payment Due Nov. 15

Subscriptions to the first Liberty loan, which closed June 15, were $3,038,000,000, a 50 per cent over-subscription of the $2,000,000,000 offered. There were more than 4,000,000 subscribers, and allotments were made in full on subscriptions of $10,000 and less.

On the second Liberty loan payment of 2 per cent of the subscription amount was required with the application and thousands of purchasers of the smaller bonds, particularly of $50 and $100 denominations, paid cash in full. From these payments $151,000,000 already has been received by the treasury.

The second installment of 13 per cent will fall due one week from today, Thursday, Nov. 15; 40 per cent additional will be due Dec. 15, and the last installment of 40 per cent will be due Jan. 15, 1918.

Sec. McAdoo Issues Thanks

Sec. McAdoo in a statement said: "This great loan would have been impossible without the loyal support and co-operation of the people of the country, but even that support could not have been secured except for the indefatigable, unselfish and earnest work of hundreds of thousands of splendid men and women who threw themselves into the task without reservation."

"I wish to thank all these splendid volunteers and patriots, and particularly wish to thank the bankers and business men, the laborers and the women, the Liberty loan organizations throughout the country, the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, the newspapers and periodicals, which gave, in the first Liberty loan, the effective, unselfish and generous support through their columns and otherwise; the press associations, the business houses, cooperative and fraternal societies and other organizations throughout the length and breadth of the land which so generously and earnestly gave their services to the great cause."

"Thanks are due also to those employers who, in such large numbers, gave the fullest opportunity to their employees to subscribe to the loan upon terms commensurate with their ability to make the required payments."

"I should like to make special mention of the soldiers and sailors of America who came forward with subscriptions amounting to more per capita than those received from the civil population. These gallant men are not only giving their services and their lives to their country, but are lending their money as well to strengthen the government in this great war for America's rights and world democracy."

Explaining the failure to accept the full amount of subscriptions, Sec. McAdoo declared the government as a matter of policy must abide by the announcement of plans made Oct. 3.

GERMANS INCITED TO CAPTURE AMERICANS

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—In a letter received yesterday by Capt. Eugene A. Carter of the Somerville police from Richard A. Skane, 1st sergeant in Co. B, 24th Engineers, American expeditionary forces, who wrote from "Somewhere in France," the sergeant sets forth the reward offered by the German government for the capture of the first Americans.

"This is the first chance I had to go to the base," writes Skane, "since we were ordered to co-operate with the British four months ago. The Spanish war is nothing but a side show compared with this war. I have seen a lot of action at the front line trenches, and if the censor would permit it I could give a lot of news. I have seen the various drives and great slaughter going on at the various fronts."

"Well, the sooner the Somerville companies come the quicker this thing will be over. I read for the first time about a reward offered to 'Fritz' (that is what we call the Germans) of 300 marks, an iron cross and three weeks' leave for the first American captured."

"Some inducement, isn't it? Well, the Fritz that captures one of our boys will certainly earn it all right. I feel that I am saving the best country in the world and from what I have seen of other countries I thank God that I am a United States soldier."

"Paper and envelopes are mighty scarce with us at the front and our letters have to be few. I know that you are a busy man, but I do hope you can find time to write a few words. A letter from God's country is worth more than money. I go back and another crack at 'Fritz' tomorrow morning."

CONVERSE MEMORIAL LIBRARY AT AMHERST COLLEGE DEDICATED TODAY

AMHERST, Nov. 8.—The Converse Memorial Library at Amherst college was dedicated today. The new building, erected at a cost of $250,000, is the gift of Edmund C. Converse of New York, in memory of his brother, James B. Converse, who was a member of the class of 1867 at Amherst.

Mr. Converse, Herbert Putnam, librarian of congress, and George A. Thompson, of New York, president of the board of trustees of the college, came here to participate in the exercises. The library building, designed by William Rutherford Mead of New York, is of brick and limestone. The shelves have a capacity of 200,000 volumes. The entire third floor and most of the second are divided into rooms which are to be made centers of advanced study for all the non-scientific departments of the college.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—England must husband her food supply if her people expect America to economize in food for their sakes, is to be the plea of a "League of National Safety" which soon will be launched from the headquarters of the director-general of national economy. Members of the league will say that the people of the United States cannot be expected to save food for the benefit of England unless they are convinced that the British people are in earnest in adhering to a food ration. "Visitors returning to America from here should have reason to regret that the people of the United States are not more extravagance," is the warning issued to members of the league.

The members are urged to observe the following rules:—

Fresh meat to be served only once a day. No second helpings. Roast meat to be avoided as much as possible. It is wasteful.

Bread with the mid-day meal only if specially asked for. One slice less a day to be eaten.

One "potato day" a week, to be as nearly as possible a breadless day. No butter with bread and jam.

Never more than one egg per head at any meal.

No early morning cup of tea.

The open sugar bowl at table to be abolished.

The league will make a special appeal to those whose wages, or incomes have been increased by the war.

AMSTERDAM, November.—German newspapers announce that the army physicians have discovered a successful method of curing the nervous affliction so frequent among disabled soldiers, which causes a constant trembling of the whole or part of the body.

Dr. Ernst Fayer, head of the nerve hospital at Roderbirken, has outlined a method of electrical treatment, which it is claimed often effects a complete cure in a few days, and is almost invariably effective within a period of three weeks. The newspapers describe his method as follows:—

"By the application of a gentle current which causes no pain whatever, good results have been obtained in a few minutes or at the longest two and a half hours. A course of treatment is required after this, consisting of ten to last more than two or three weeks, and in light cases is finished in a few days. New attacks may occur due to excitement or nerve strain, but are easily cured."

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 8.—The proceeds of the Danish sea fisheries more than doubled during the past year, while the quantity of the catch increased about 40 per cent. The value for last year was nearly $10,000,000.

The number of Danish fishermen is now 19,000, an increase of about 1000, and the fishing boats number 15,400, valued at $5,000,000.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 8.—The Association of Managers and Editors of Petrograd daily newspapers has published a statement informing newspaper readers that the press may very soon find itself in a critical condition in consequence of the enormous increase in the cost of material and labor, wear and tear of machinery which cannot be replaced, and of the strike in paper mills.

MANAGER LEATHERS OF THE TELEPHONE COMPANY EXPLAINS "DON'T ANSWER" REPORTS

Manager Leathers of the telephone company made the interesting statement the other day that the principal reason telephone users receive "don't answer" reports is because subscribers are very likely to be some distance away when the bell rings or not within hearing.

When asked to explain, he said: "The company recently made a special effort to reduce the number of 'don't answer' calls. About 18,000 cases of 'don't answer' calls were investigated, and it was found that only 2.9 per cent of the subscribers were actually operating a correct central office recording or incorrect central office recording."

"This study showed that in 73.5 per cent of the calls investigated subscribers were absent from the station called or not within hearing of the bell. In 10.3 per cent the called subscribers were extremely slow in answering. In 5.5 per cent the called subscriber's telephone was inconveniently located; in 5.5 per cent incorrect numbers were given by calling subscribers; and in 6.2 per cent were miscellaneous causes."

"The investigation showed several curious and odd conditions that prevented telephone users from getting the number called. These included ringing the bell a telephone receiver to play with and stuffing the bells with paper or cloth to prevent the ringing. Some users in some cases were so busy that they failed to answer, and their part in completing a telephone call is just as important as ours, there would be very few 'don't answer' reports."

INVITE ALL GOVERNORS TO CONVENTION OF NATIONAL ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

WESTERVILLE, O., Nov. 8.—Plans are going forward for what prohibition leaders declare will be the most important national convention ever held by the National Anti-Saloon League when the 25th convenes at Washington Dec. 10. According to an announcement made here at the national headquarters of the league, the governors of every state will be invited to attend and address the convention.

Representatives of organized labor of the granges, merchants and manufacturers as well as the leaders in public life, are to be asked to address the convention, and put special emphasis upon efforts to make the United States dry through the passage of an amendment to the federal constitution. A resolution looking to that end has been adopted by the senate and is to be brought in the house early in December. Delegates from all parts of the country will attend.

Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, Representative Edwin Yates Webb of North Carolina, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho and Representative Simon D. Poins of Ohio were notified their intention of speaking. Other senators and representatives probably will be on the program. It is announced, other speakers include Gov. E. P. Johnson of Alabama, Sam W. Snell of Atlanta and Mrs. Anna A. Gordon of Evanston, Ill., president of the National Women's Christian Temperance union.

It is announced that every individual church organization of every denomination; every young people's society and temperance organization is entitled to send a delegate. Churches will be urged to send their pastors.

JAM FOR BRITISH ARMY

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The British army in France gets nearly 2,000,000 pounds of jam every week from this country. The daily ration of three ounces of jam for each man amounts to about 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 pounds weekly while the daily ration of just half an ounce of jam absorbs over half a million pounds each week.

The Danger of Imitations.

AN OHIO druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."

To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. Your experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine. If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."

No mother with a spark of affection for her child will overlook the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when buying Castoria.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mrs. Wm. Palmer, Sterling, Ill., says: "Your Castoria has been my friend for twenty years. I could not keep my children well without it. I cannot speak too highly of your wonderful remedy."

Mrs. Frank H. Cafferty, of Providence, R. I., says: "If all young mothers would use Castoria it will bring up their child. My nurse and doctor can also tell what your Castoria can do."

Howard A. Banks, of Hickory, N. C., says: "Your Castoria is the only physic we ever give our three babies. The fact that we use it promptly is probably the reason we never have to use any other."

Mrs. A. J. Nelson, of Waco, Texas, says: "Enclosed you will find a picture of 'Our little Castoria boy.' When a week old I ordered your Castoria for him, and I have never been up a night with him since."

Mrs. Eva Ott Melin, of Jersey City, N. J., says: "I attribute the present excellent condition of my baby to your Castoria which he has been using since he was three weeks old. I have not lost a night's sleep in seven months."

SUBMARINE SCARE OFF VALUABLE SHIPMENT OF ATLANTIC COAST

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Nov. 8.—On the arrival of a neutral freight steamer which arrived yesterday told today of a submarine scare which created much excitement when the vessel was nearing port off an island on the Atlantic coast on Tuesday last, the lookout sighted what appeared to be a periscope. The alarm was given and lifeboats were swung out. But when the undersize boat came to the surface a few minutes later it was learned that it was an American war vessel.

SUSTAINING MEMBERSHIP IN ARMY SERVICE CLUBS TO ALL WHO CONTRIBUTE TO FUND

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—A sustaining membership in army service clubs at Ayer has been offered to every person in Boston who subscribes $10 or more to the war camp community recreation fund. The sustaining members will receive tickets entitling them to accompany a concert at the city hall on Saturday, Nov. 10, which has been cancelled by the local management.

JUTE YARN ARRIVES

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Nov. 8.—A shipment of jute yarn, said to be the most valuable ever received in this country, was brought by a steamer which arrived yesterday. The consignment totalled 32,000 bales, valued at $1,000,000.

REFUSE CONCERT LICENSE TO FRITZ KREISLER IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—Charles S. Hubbard, director of public safety, yesterday ordered the police department to refuse a concert license to Fritz Kreisler, the violinist, who was advertised to appear in Carnegie hall this evening. The director stipulated, however, that Kreisler's manager be allowed to cancel the engagement before the order was enforced. It was also announced that another concert at which Kreisler was to appear as accompanist on Saturday had already been cancelled by the local management.

from a number of patriotic organizations and from many individuals against the Kreisler concerts. They took the ground that since Kreisler was an officer in the Austrian army and Austria was the ally of America's enemy, it would be unpatriotic to permit him to appear at a public entertainment.

KING GEORGE SAYS WAR ENTERS LAST PHASE—SETS JAN. 6 AS DAY OF PRAYER

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The king has addressed a letter "to my people," appointing Sunday, Jan. 6 as "A special day of prayer and thanksgiving in all churches throughout my dominions." The king says: "The world-wide struggle for the triumph of right and liberty is entering upon its last and most difficult phase. The enemy is striving by desperate assault and subtle intrigue to perpetuate the wrongs already committed and to stem the tide of a free civilization. We have yet to complete the great task to which more than three years ago we dedicated ourselves."

"At such a time I would call upon you to devote a special day to prayer, that we may have the clear sightedness and strength necessary to the victory of our cause."

Are Told How to Find Relief from Pain.

Nashua, N. H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I used to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me."—DELINA MARTIN, 29 Jowers Street, Nashua, N. H.

ELIMINATE THE FIRE TRAPS

The fatalities and injuries in connection with the fire on Broughton avenue Tuesday evening, were only the natural consequence of housing conditions that should not be allowed to exist. Given a three story block with small rooms, three or four to a family, sometimes with only a front stairs, or as in this case with a dark and narrow back stairs, and we have all the principal features of the worst fire trap that can be found in any city.

Unfortunately we have many such buildings in this city, yet our local building laws do not condemn them. Neither do our state inspectors, who of late, have been forcing improvements in the fire protection for schools.

It seems that in the fire referred to the stairways were rendered impassable by dense smoke before the alarm was sounded. Otherwise the department could have taken down the people who jumped from the windows. As it was, but for the quick action of Chief Saunders in ringing a second alarm, the fire would have spread to surrounding property, which is crowded solidly together and of the cheapest and flimsiest character. With a high wind blowing had the fire spread, it would probably have wiped out much of the property in the district, which in some respects would be a good thing for the city; but a conflagration at that time and in that particular place would undoubtedly have been attended with heavy loss of life.

Already five persons have died as a result of the fire, and of those burned or injured by jumping from windows one or two more may die.

The question arises, what will be done about this fire? Will the investigation by Chief Saunders and the state officials result in bringing about greater protection against fire in the crowded tenement blocks, or will it be confined simply to ascertaining the cause of the fire and, if possible, fixing the responsibility?

Fires are liable to occur at any time in such crowded buildings and, as in the Broughton avenue case before discovery, they are liable to make sufficient headway to cut off all escape by the stairs which became the well for conveying the smoke to the upper stories.

The great problem to be solved is to provide some protection against fire for the occupants above the first floor. Will it be fire escapes or stairways on the outside of the buildings?

The lesson of this Broughton avenue fire is, that no man, woman or child is safe in any of these blocks above the first floor. On the third floor the chances are still worse than on the second, because the tenants may not know anything of the fire until the smoke bursts into their apartments. It is then too late to escape, as the stairways are the actual chimneys for conveying the smoke upward and are impassable from smoke alone, if nothing more.

Thus is seen the necessity of fire escapes. It is up to the municipal council to take up this matter and see that the fire traps of the city be made safe for the occupants or else vacated.

TAMMANY'S TRIUMPH

Tammamy comes back in New York with a whoop and a bound that has taken away the breath of the newspapers that so bitterly fought this very possibility. In spite of Roosevelt, Taft, and all the other spellbinders, in spite of Mitchell's exposures of Hyman in the role of a traitor and German spy, the voters simply got out to bury Mitchell beyond the hope of resurrection and they did it most effectually.

Hyman is now asked if he will be the tool of Murphy or whether Tammany will go in for corruption in every department as was its wont.

A man who has been elected over the bitterest opposition by a plurality of 143,000 can well afford to ignore the sneers and contemptuous queries the morning after. It was one of the greatest landmarks in the history of New York city and one of the most spectacular triumphs Tammany has scored in its checkered career. All eyes will be turned upon Hyman and Murphy and their distribution of the spoils. It is a certainty that they will show no mercy to the friends of Mayor Mitchell.

In view of all the charges that have been made against Judge Hyman of New York and his associates and backers on the score of disloyalty, it will be interesting now to see whether all the terrible things said of them will prove to be justified. Will Hyman and Murphy line up with the alien enemies? Well, we think not. Had the voters believed the Mitchell charges on this score Hyman would not have been elected.

NO "MERCIFUL" DEATHS

Some physicians banded together in the American Association of Progressive Medicine have decided to seek legislation in various states legalizing killing aged persons and incurables. They call this "merciful" death!

Evidently they overlook the fact that many persons have done much good and been of great worth after they had passed the old age line. They forget the millions of instances where sick persons recovered health after they were given up by doctors. We cannot subscribe to the doctrine of legalized murder advanced by these doctors, nor do we agree with them that they are "progressive." A truly progressive doctor is one who makes an incurable disease easier to bear and who enables the patient to live as long as possible.

Further, a progressive doctor is one who makes old age healthier and pushes it farther into the distance of one's life—who does his utmost to bring his patients to what we are pleased to call a "ripe old age."

GERMANY DEMOCRATIC?

It is announced that Germany is no longer an autocracy but a democracy. Evidently the kaiser is trying to so arrange matters that the transition to what may be called democratic government may not call for his own elimination. He has heard the rumblings in the reichstag and he has called a new chancellier who is said to have consulted the reichstag leaders as to his policy.

Germany is just as autocratic as she has been and the kaiser is still the absolute ruler that he has been. The announcement that Germany has turned democratic so very suddenly, however, shows that President Wilson's charge is percolating through the Huns and that even the kaiser finds it to his advantage to put on the air of democracy, but one feels, knowing him as we do, that when he causes such an announcement to be sent out, he is like the character who puts on the livery of heaven to serve the devil in.

Col. Roosevelt's support seems to have been about as valuable to Mayor Mitchell as it was to Judge Hughes. N. Y. World.

And pray what can be said of the support of The World and The Sun, both so fierce that one or both have libel suits on their hands on account of charges made against Hyman? Their support was as vain as that of Roosevelt.

The New York Sun opines that it is almost impossible to re-elect a reform mayor in New York. It instances Seth Law who, in 1902-03, it says, substituted decency for infamy. It is true that New York does not want any radical degree of reform.

SEEN AND HEARD

It is difficult for a man to love his neighbor as himself and come out on top in every business deal.

When a man shows a bent to get rid of his money it doesn't take him long to go broke.

The man with an easy face should learn to say "no" promptly if he wishes to retain his cash.

Miss Wilcox had been giving the class an elementary talk on architecture. "Now," she said, "can any one tell the class what a 'buttriss' is?"

Little Walter arose, his face beaming with a quick flash of intelligence. "A buttriss," he shouted, "a buttriss is a mummy goat!"—Buffalo News.

Remarkable War Prophecy

At the breaking down of the wall in the monastery of the Holy Ghost at Visnau (a city on the island of Gotland in the Baltic) a 200 year old prophecy of the war has been found. The prophecy, which was written on parchment by a monk in the year 1761, is now kept in the town hall as follows: The manuscript reads as follows:

"Europe will some day, when the seat of the pope is vacant, meet with punishment. Seven nations will turn themselves against a bird with two heads. The bird will defend itself with wings and talons, and the nations will slay it. It will be a tough struggle against east and west and the lives of many men shall be lost.

"War chariots shall roll forward without horses and fire-drivers shall fly through the sky and spew fire and sulphur and destroy towns. Mankind will not listen to the foreboding of God, and he shall turn away from them. The war will last three years and five months. Starvation and disease shall follow. Bread will be consumed and distributed among the people. Men will be lurching at the bottom of the sea for their prey. The war will start when the corn is ripening, the fields are ready for harvest, when the cherry trees are blooming for the third time. Peace will be obtained about Christmas."

Was His Day For Troubles

Joe Fitzpatrick, trouble man for the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., sometimes runs into "trouble" and on the company's schedule. He's an artist in his line, but clever as is this same Joe he was not able to run a way and reach his home in a way and reach his home in a way. He found himself in one day recently. He started from the office to go to Avon to run down a troublesome wife. He and his train as by train as by train in this particular instance was not far from the Avon depot. He was late getting to the station and had just time enough to rush to the ticket agent's window, buy a ticket to Avon and jump onto a train that was just pulling out.

He saw a friendly face as soon as he went into the smoker and was soon engaged in conversation. When the conductor came along Joe blandly handed out the Avon ticket. The conductor passed it back with the information that the train was express to Boston.

Joe bolted for the door just in time to see the Montello station whizz by. He found himself in Brockton, in about another minute. Avon was soon hot footed it after Montello and Joe's hopes of jumping off as the train slowed up grew dimmer and dimmer. Almost before he knew it he was in the South station in Boston and his job at Avon was still waiting for him. He had just time to grab another train, Brockton bound, after making sure that it was going to recognize him. He had just enough cash in his pocket to pay his fare to Avon, the ten-cent rebate he received being cashed at the Avon depot, to enable him to buy a ticket for Brockton.

And this episode is not included in the diary Joe keeps of daily occurrences.—Brockton Enterprise.

Keep Fit

Don't let your mind or your muscles grow flabby.

Keep an form in your work or your play.

Don't sit around like a lazy old Tabby.

Farther and purser day after day.

There's no excuse if you're out of condition.

Get yourself ready for "doing your bit."

Get into shape, for, whatever your mission.

You're not much use if you do not.

Keep fit!

Train down for battle, be ready for service.

Keen and alert when your chances arrive.

Don't be fumbling who's bossy and nervous.

Heavy and fumbling and half way alive.

Nature intended that you should be glowing.

Bright-eyed and vigorous, sharp as a wit.

Primed and prepared for whatever is going.

It's your own fault if you do not.

Keep fit!

Half the world's people are half-way efficient.

Doing their work in a puttering style.

Blaming their state on some power omnipotent.

When it's their own silly fault, all the while.

Where they should follow Dame Nature they've mocked her.

Then they have grumbled at losing their grit.

Get into training and laugh at the doctor.

You are a slacker unless you.

Keep fit!

Hale Confronts Candidate

Matthew Hale, who was the democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Massachusetts in Tuesday's election, sent the following telegram yesterday to his successful opponent:

"Heartiest congratulations on your great victory. If at any time I can do anything to help either you or the governor in connection with the war, please do not hesitate to call upon me."—Matthew Hale."

HON. JAMES B. CASEY FOR MAYOR

The Interesting Story of Pawtucket Bridge

NUMBER TWO

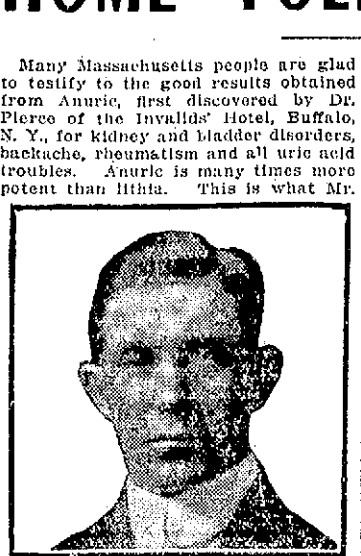

Bridge construction had not proceeded very far when Engineer Worcester, an out of town expert, was called in to make an inspection. Experts came high, but it matters not so long as the city pays the bills. Engineer Worcester came high. He did not even make a written report of his observations; but in addition to an original appropriation of $1000, he did present a bill that brought him personal compensation at the rate of $7.50 an hour, and a total of over $700, and additional compensation for his employees amounting to about $2000.

Later, despite Engineer Worcester's scrutiny and his impressive charge for services rendered, the piers of the bridge began to crumble. Deterioration set in before the structure had attained its full growth. And the people were paying the bills.

In the articles of the Locks and Canals corporation, as a protection to the city, provision is made, and it is expressly stipulated that where canals conflict with traffic demands, making necessary the construction of bridges, such bridges shall be built at the expense of said Locks and Canals Corporation. This provision is interesting in connection with the fourthly approach to Pawtucket bridge where the city has paid for building operations costing many thousands of dollars. Why then may it not be asked has the present administration made no effort to collect from the Locks and Canals a perfectly valid proportion of the bridge cost?

SINN FEIN SECRETS FOUND ON WELSH

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Channels through which Sinn Fein leaders in Ireland have been communicating with their agents in the United States have been disclosed. Secret service authorities believe, through the arrest of Thomas Walsh, a British subject, who was examined yesterday, that the Irish secret service has been charged with the trading with the enemy act, when arranged before a United States commissioner.

Walsh is identified with Sinn Fein propaganda was learned from a letter which he attempted to destroy when arrested, according to an assistant United States district attorney.

Walsh came to the United States Sunday, having shipped as a member of a steamship's crew.

The letter which Walsh sought to DESTROY, WHEN TAKEN INTO CUSTODY AT THE ship pier, has been pieced together and federal authorities say it contains valuable information relative to Sinn Fein activities, both in Ireland and in the United States.

According to William J. Flynn, chief of the secret service, the communication mentions "General" Liam Mellows, Sinn Fein leader who was arrested in this city Oct. 20, and Patrick McCartan, an associate of Mellows, who was taken on a ship at Halifax, N. S., about the same time. Each is held on the charge of sailing under a fraudulent seaman's passport.

Although Walsh is now held in the Federal House of Detention, the information resulting from Walsh's arrest will be of great value to authorities investigating alleged Sinn Fein plots on the other side of the Atlantic.

FIRST AMERICANS KILLED IN WAR

Three Soldiers Buried With
High Military Honors In
France

Tribute by French Officer
Punctuated by Roar of
Guns and Whistle of Shells

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY
IN FRANCE, Nov. 6. (By The Associated Press.)—The first three American soldiers killed in the trenches in France are sleeping tonight in French soil, honored by the American army and the people and army of France. Their final interment took place yesterday.

With a guard of French infantrymen in their picturesque uniforms of red and horizon blue standing on one side and a detachment of American soldiers on the other, the flag-wrapped caskets were lowered into the grave and the bugles blew and the batteries at the front fired minute guns. As the minute guns went off, the French officer commanding the division in this section paid tribute to the fallen Americans. His words, which were punctuated by the roar of the guns and the whistle of shells, touched both the French and Americans.

French Officer's Tribute
"In the name of the French army and the people of France, I bid farewell to Private Enright, Private Gresham and Private Hay of the American army."

"Of their own free will they had left a prosperous and happy country to come over here. They knew what was continuing in Europe; they knew that the forces fighting for honor, love of justice and civilization, were still checked by the long prepared forces serving the powers of brutal domination, oppression and barbarism. They knew that efforts were still necessary. They wished to give us their generous hearts and they have not forgotten old historical memories, while others forget more recent ones."

"They ignored nothing of the circumstances and nothing had been concealed from them—neither the length and hardship of war, nor the violence of the fighting, nor the dreadfulness of new weapons, nor the perils of the foe. Nothing stopped them. They accepted the hard and strenuous life; they crossed the ocean at great peril; they took their places on the front by our side and they have fallen facing the foe in a hard and desperate hand-to-hand fight. Honor to them. Their families, friends and fellow citizens will be proud when they learn of their deaths."

"Men! These graves, the first to be dug in our national soil and but a short distance from the enemy, are as a mark of our mighty land and we and our allies firmly cling to in the common task, confirming the will of the people and the army of the United States to fight with us to a finish, ready to sacrifice as long as is necessary to bring about final victory for the most noble of our kind, the defense of freedom of nations, the weak as well as the mighty. Thus the deaths of these

Y.M.C.A. FATHER AND SON BANQUET

The annual father and son banquet of the Young Men's Christian association was held last night at the association building in Merrimack street. The speaker of the evening was C. C. Robinson of Boston and New York. He explained that there is a campaign on for 100,000 boys to raise $1,000,000 for war work, each boy to raise $10.

Mr. Robinson proved to be a very interesting speaker and the stories he told of the work of the soldiers in France as well as the work being done by the Y.M.C.A. was greatly enjoyed.

Mr. Otto Heckmeyer, chairman of the general committee of the Red Triangle campaign, was one of the speakers. J. D. V. Coburn, Jr., gave a talk on "Over the Top." W. H. Gumb outlined the campaign plan. Other speakers included Prof. L. A. Olney, president of the Y.M.C.A.

The toastmaster of the evening was J. Milton Washburn, the president student for 1916, who introduced Prof. Louis A. Olney as the first speaker of the evening. Mr. Olney extended a hearty welcome to those present and then introduced Mr. Robinson, who spoke in part as follows:

The present is an opportune time to hold a father and son banquet, because today there has been a greater challenge thrown out to the boys of America than ever has been thrown out to boys in any previous war. The great war in history, the present conflict, have never brought together more than 2,000,000 men on both sides. Today, according to the figures of military experts, 35,000,000 men are engaged either directly or indirectly, engaged in the conflict.

The work that the Y.M.C.A. is doing for the boys in service has received the official endorsement of the governments of the allies. Not only is it necessary to care for the men when they have received a slight wound, they are wounded—but it is important that he have something to encourage and cheer him when he is in training, and when he is in the trenches; something that will make him understand that back at home there is an organization that cares for his welfare and comfort because of the work done by the Y.M.C.A. of America in the Spanish-American war, the Boxer uprising in China, and on the Mexican border, the federal government of this country, in entering the present European conflict, has placed no limits or hindrances upon the work of the association. Already the Y.M.C.A. was the instrument chosen by the President and Congress of the United States as a distributing agent for their various war relief efforts—a central body through which the forces of Christianity might reach the men.

The tremendous challenge to the boys of today was that of earning in dollars to be devoted to the Y.M.C.A. war fund. It was a work on which they might well look back with pride in future years. Without the Y.M.C.A., the war would not be won, Lord Northcliffe had said, and the present opportunity is now quite plentiful. Many people, evidently thinking that a famine was imminent, hoarded the coppers, with the result that for a few days, pennies were almost as scarce as sugar. Today, however, there seemed to be a preponderance of the coppers, for which merchants, car conductors and others are thankful.

Women employees of the Musketaquid mill, who have been active in the Red Cross work have formed an organization to be known as the Musketaquid Club Red Cross Workers, and the following officers have been elected: Mrs. J. H. Now, president, and Mrs. Wilson, instructor. The other members of the organization are Miss N. Dawson, Miss M. Allen, Mrs. M. Panton, Mrs. N. Davine, Mrs. M. Foster, Mrs. E. Verrill and Miss P. Craft.

The Sam Walter Foss Literary club held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ada Doty, 81 Bellevue street, and after routine matters had been transacted a program of entertainment was carried out.

This consisted of piano solos by Miss Alice Walker and readings by Miss Faith Doty. There was also a very interesting paper, written and read by Mrs. Sara Swan Griffin, "The Tragic Marriage of the Indian Princess, Wacotamoo."

Another service flag was flown to the breezes this morning in Merrimack square when a large banner, well dotted with stars, made its appearance from one of the windows of the D. L. Page building. There are ten stars on this particular emblem, and they are representative of the former employees of "Uncle Dudley" who are now serving with the national forces. The honor roll is as follows: Lieut. Charles J. Duffy, Sergt. Harry A. Cole and Walter Donahue, Corp. William Cronshaw, Privates George Mozley, Joseph Duford, Jean Goulet, William McCaffrey, Walter J. L'Esperance and Joseph Pechanik. The majority of these men are now "over there" and to provide a fitting climax to the record of his employees "Uncle Dudley" himself is a member of the State Guard.

number brought before the court for keeping liquor, two; number brought before the court for drunkenness and delivery of liquor to soldiers, 18.

The decrease of arrests for drunkenness is shown in the report, comparing the first six days of each month for the past four months. The comparative figures follow: First six days of August, 55; first six days of September, 11; first six days of October, 52, and first six days of November, 45.

At a well attended meeting of Centralville lodge, I.O.O.F., last evening, the first degree was conferred upon two candidates from Highland, Vermont and Oberlin lodges. Notwithstanding that many changes have been rendered necessary in the personnel of the degree staff, the work was performed in a highly creditable manner. After the degree, light refreshments were served. The grand officers of the Massachusetts grand lodge are to visit Centralville lodge on the night of Nov. 25.

A particularly interesting Woman's Page appears in the Sunday Supplement, which is given away free with Saturday's Sun.

After an apparent shortage of pennies here for several days, or since the war taxes became effective, the supply is now quite plentiful. Many people, evidently thinking that a famine was imminent, hoarded the coppers, with the result that for a few days, pennies were almost as scarce as sugar. Today, however, there seemed to be a preponderance of the coppers, for which merchants, car conductors and others are thankful.

Another service flag was flown to the breezes this morning in Merrimack square when a large banner, well dotted with stars, made its appearance from one of the windows of the D. L. Page building. There are ten stars on this particular emblem, and they are representative of the former employees of "Uncle Dudley" who are now serving with the national forces. The honor roll is as follows: Lieut. Charles J. Duffy, Sergt. Harry A. Cole and Walter Donahue, Corp. William Cronshaw, Privates George Mozley, Joseph Duford, Jean Goulet, William McCaffrey, Walter J. L'Esperance and Joseph Pechanik. The majority of these men are now "over there" and to provide a fitting climax to the record of his employees "Uncle Dudley" himself is a member of the State Guard.

SERG. PETRIE REPORTS TO THE MAYOR

The first written report of Sergt. Petrie to the mayor since he was appointed as head of the liquor squad was filed with His Honor yesterday afternoon and is in part as follows:

"Only as a last resort do we ask to send a woman away to some institution. If it is possible to get her work somewhere—and we enumerate the places where in all likelihood she can get work—then we do so. Four of those who have been found leading questionable lives have been placed in jobs."

"If there is a chance of the woman changing her mode of life, if there is a chance of her doing something which is useful to the community, in some instances we have learned of parents and have communicated with them about their daughters. Still others we have dealt more sternly with, and have endeavored to tell them that Lowell is no place for them, and that they must leave. Only when we see that one is incorrigible do we seek to have her sent away."

From October 12 to November 5 the work accomplished by the squad is as follows, from the sergeant's report: Lewd and lascivious women brought before the court, 12; number of girls brought before the court for leading idle and vicious lives, five; number of cases of lewd and lascivious cohabitation, two; cases of fornication, two; rape, one; number brought to station and warned, 16; number of girls sent home to their parents, four; number of women warned on the street, 12; number of persons brought before the court for illegal sale of liquor, four.

GOVERNMENT HEADSTONE FOR VETERAN'S GRAVE

A regular meeting of the cemetery commissioners was held at city hall last evening with President Rigby in the chair. Frank R. Flanders, who has charge of the veterans' graves in the city cemeteries, asked the right to place a government headstone in a lot which was sold some years ago, this lot having a monument on it at the present time.

Chairman Rigby said the lot was purchased in 1900, and the veteran whose remains are now in the lot was buried in 1901 and for over 20 years no care had been given the lot. The lot was sold several years ago by the then board of cemetery trustees and since that time two burials have taken place there.

Mr. Flanders moved to have the monument removed from the lot, but Mr. Rigby objected on the ground that the monument is very heavy and would be hard to move, and he also stated that it might be possible that the soldier was not buried there, for the city clerk told him the records cannot always be relied upon as to burials. It was finally voted to lay the matter on the table for one month.

Mr. Flanders also informed the board that the remains of Col. Shipley are buried in a lot that is not well kept. He also informed the board that a woman who committed suicide is buried in the same lot, while the remains of two foreigners are also in the same lot. Mr. Flanders said he intended placing a government stone over the grave of Col. Shipley.

THE RED TRIANGLE CAMPAIGN

Preparations for the celebration to mark the opening of the Red Triangle campaign in this city are fast coming to a head and from present indications, next Saturday will be a gala day in the Spindle City.

About 150 Lowell soldiers from Camp Devens will arrive in this city at 1:45 at the Middlesex street station, and from then on until late in the evening there will be one of the most patriotic displays that has ever inaugurated a money raising campaign. From the station the men will march to the Textile school campus in Moody street, headed by a division band of 35 pieces.

The route will be via Middlesex, Central, Merrimack and Moody streets. At the camp a football game between the Textile school eleven and one representing the supply train of Camp Devens will be staged at 2:30 and from comments on both sides of the trenches the battle should be a hot one.

After the game the men will be allowed to go to their homes or spend their time as they wish. The Red Cross canteen in Merrimack street will be ready to provide the necessities of the inner man.

At 7:15 the thread of the celebration will be taken up again, when the soldiers and the band will form at the M. C. A. and the line of march taken to the armory in Westford street. Upon arrival here a mass meeting will be held in the interest of the Red Triangle campaign.

An excellent list of speakers has been secured, and most prominent among them will be Allan McElroy of Scotland, who has seen service in the French trenches. He will describe war as it is and tell how it may be softened to some extent by the work of the Red Triangle. Otto Heckmeyer will preside, and Mayor O'Donnell will be one of the speakers. Members of the State Guard companies will perform guard duty at the armory.

The arrangements for the day are in the hands of a committee headed by Paul B. Channing.

Tomorrow evening in Memorial hall the opening banquet of the Red Triangle campaign will be held and this will be the first of many in the city. Members of the various teams will have to meet each other. Plans for the organization of the campaign will be discussed and the great desideratum of the committee's affair will be to have the workers learn just what part each one is expected to play. Otto Heckmeyer, general manager of the campaign, will address the workers.

On Sunday the ministers of the various churches of the city will tell their people of the campaign, and on Monday the work will be on in full swing. The first report will be made at noon Monday at a luncheon to be held at the T. M. C. A. From then on, luncheon and reports will come daily at noon.

ANOTHER CHANCE TO HELP THE SOLDIER BOYS

The 75th division, headquarters troop, at Ayer, will conduct a concert show and dance in Associate hall on next Wednesday evening, and a record crowd is expected to attend as it will be the last opportunity afforded Lowell people to see their boys in the troop before they go "over there."

In this division there are but 113 men, seven from Lowell. But in the number 75 New England cities and towns are represented. This fact has acted to the disadvantage of the troop, in regard to aid from friends at home. While there has been much individual assistance rendered, no organized effort in behalf of the troop has been made.

The Lowell boys in this troop, deserve just as much honor and help as those connected with the other branches, and the committee that came to town today, consisting of Messrs. McPherson and Bailey, was very cordially received. The committee is going around the city soliciting advertisements for the dance order, and was much encouraged with today's results.

The captain of the troop told the boys that they would have to get busy, as orders to move were expected within a short time. This is the reason for arranging the affair so soon after the party of last night.

The minstrel show will be furnished by an "All Girl" cast, and a program of rare excellence will be arranged. John J. Townsend, who so successfully directed the big minstrel show conducted by the Mathew Temperance institute last season, has volunteered his services to a similar capacity for the coming show, and he will hold a rehearsal of the talent in the Mathew hall tonight. Among those to appear in the show are many of Lowell's leading artists.

Following the concert, general dancing will be in order, with Broderick's orchestra furnishing music.

All Food—No Waste!

THE FOOD CONSERVATION CAMPAIGN

A gathering of Lowell women which practically filled Colonial hall listened to addresses yesterday afternoon by members of the Lowell women's council of national defense and also by officers of the state organization of the same name in the interest of the food conservation campaign.

Mrs. Ames spoke of the work which the women's committee had done in Lowell the past summer and mentioned the public market and public safety canning station as examples of what women can do to aid the nation at war. She also told of the successful canvass of Lowell women which had been made in the interest of the food conservation campaign. To Mrs. James H. Carmichael she paid a high tribute for the excellent manner in which the latter had directed the canning station and public market last summer.

"Women came from all over the state to get pointers from the Lowell committee," said Mrs. Ames, "and too much credit cannot be given to Mrs. Carmichael who took upon her shoulders the task of directing the enterprise for long and at times discouraging months."

The meeting was called shortly after 3 o'clock and Mrs. Butler Ames presided. Mayor James E. O'Donnell was introduced as the first speaker and made an earnest plea for the co-operation of all Lowell women in the line of conservation of food. He said that the estimable value of the work which has already been done by the women's committee on food conservation in this city and said that this work was just as essential to ultimate victory as was the fighting of soldiers in the field.

"Before Sir Douglas Haig made his historical drive several months ago," he said, "the British government had all the equipment which he would need for the drive from the people of England."

"The men and women in the factories and shops and on the farms were ready to give their utmost to help the great general in his drive. It should be the same way with the women. They should be ready to back our fighting men to the limit. And one of the best ways of doing this is to take part in just such work that entered in the food conservation campaign."

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, head of the women's unit of the Massachusetts public safety committee, was the next speaker and said that the figures concerning the food conservation campaign in this state. She said that co-operation was the greatest desideratum in the campaign and said that the women's council of national defense was working in conjunction with the public safety committee. She complimented the women of Lowell on the excellent work which they had accomplished and urged for a continuance of the good work.

"We consider Lowell one of the banner cities of the state in this work," said Mrs. Thayer in conclusion, "and we want every woman of this city to become a member of our great army in this food conservation campaign."

Mrs. James H. Carmichael spoke briefly on the work of the Lowell committee and among the others scheduled to speak were Miss Sarah L. Arnold of Simmons college, Miss Root, state director of the food conservation campaign, Robert F. Marden and others.

Present at this afternoon's meeting were many domestic science teachers from the public schools, and the School and Society league of the State Normal school was represented by Miss Alice Dacey, president, and Miss Lucy Desmond.

Miss Arnold spoke much in the same vein as the other speakers and emphasized the fact that every woman—not one or two—must help in the present campaign.

Mrs. George M. Heath, chairman of the Lowell women's council of national defense, told the audience that already had been done in this city in the way of organization. The city has been divided into districts and a number of sub-divisions. Leaders have been appointed in two of these, Mrs. Marjorie Leiders and Mrs. Johnson in Ayer City. She said that interpreters would be needed in many districts and that this was a chance for capable women to come forward. Mrs. Heath announced that the center's club had made arrangements to give a course of six demonstrations under the direction of Miss Webber and that this course was open to all women and the cost was only 15 cents for the course.

LIGHT DOCKET IN POLICE COURT—ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE

Joseph Sewlan appeared before Judge Enright in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Mary Palecki.

The testimony brought out during the course of the trial convinced the court that it was one of those neighborhood rows in which the parties on both sides juggled with the truth and after listening to testimony for about an hour Judge Enright said: "I cannot believe either side" and found the defendant not guilty and ordered his discharge.

The case of Philip R. Bourque, charged with larceny of copiers from Edward Cawley, was continued until Tuesday.

George Beaudette entered a plea of guilty to a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Henry Beaudry. It is alleged that the former assaulted Beaudry's house yesterday and after a wordy battle punched Beaudry and then jumped on him. Beaudry, whose both eyes were badly discolored, said that he did nothing to cause Beaudette to assault him. Beaudette offered no defense, stating that he came from Bradford, Mass., and that he was found guilty and a fine of $20 was imposed.

John H. Booth, of Everett, was charged with operating an automobile without a license, and a fine of $10 was imposed after the court found him guilty.

Garrison, fourth offender, entered the police station yesterday afternoon and at his own request was locked up. This morning he said he would like to go away for a while in order to straighten out and the court sentenced him to one month in jail.

Thomas Hest, charged with drunkenness, was fined $10.

This is the American government's first definite announcement of the purposes of the meeting.

Kept Secret Till They Lauded

Even the fact that the Americans to participate in the conference had been named had been carefully kept secret until they were through the submarine zone and safe on British soil.

The part that the United States is to play in framing the great allied program is emphasized by the fact that the mission, headed by President Wilson's closest personal friend and adviser, includes the highest officers of the army and navy.

Sec. Lansing made this statement: "The government of the United States will participate in the conference at Paris with a view to securing the most efficient co-ordination of the activities of the allied nations in order to attain the highest efficiency."

"The resources of this country are being devoted to the war, and it is the duty of every citizen to do his part in this effort. The government is doing its utmost to secure the most efficient co-ordination of the activities of the allied nations in order to attain the highest efficiency."

States will participate in the approaching conference in the powers waging war against the German empire. Mr. Edward M. House, who is accompanied by Admiral W. S. Benson, chief of naval operations; Gen. Tasker S. Bliss, chief of staff, United States army; Oscar T. Crosby, assistant secretary of the treasury; Vance McCormick, chairman of the war trade board; Bainbridge Colby, United States shipping board; Dr. Alfonso E. Taylor, representing the food controller; Thomas Nelson Perkins, representing priority board; and Gordon Auchincloss as secretary.

Will Discuss Finance and Supplies

"The conference is essentially a war conference with the object of perfecting a more complete co-ordination of the activities of the various nations engaged in the conflict and the more comprehensive understanding of their respective needs, in order that the joint efforts of the belligerents may attain the highest war efficiency."

"While a definite program has not been adopted, it may be assumed that the subjects to be discussed will embrace the joint efforts of the belligerents in military and naval operations, but also the financial, commercial, economic and other phases of the present situation which are of vital importance to the successful prosecution of the war."

"There will undoubtedly be an effort to avoid any conflict of interest among the participants, and there is every reason to anticipate that the result will be a more efficient co-ordination of the joint efforts of the belligerents, and consequently a much higher efficiency and a more vigorous prosecution of the war."

Can Better Judge Allies' Needs

"The United States in the employment of its man-power and material resources desires to use them to the greatest advantage, and for this purpose it has been necessary to determine how they can be used most effectively since the independent presentation of requirements by the allied countries has caused many difficulties in the way of securing the most efficient co-ordination of the activities of the allied nations in order to attain the highest efficiency."

SOLDIER ACQUITTED OF ATTEMPT TO POISON HIS COMRADES

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Private Samuel O. Livewood, attached to the United States army aviation camp at Princeton, N. J., was acquitted of the charge of having a deadly poison in his possession with intent to injure his comrades, according to the finding of the military tribunal which heard his case at Governors Island, four weeks ago.

OH! THAT AWFUL BACKACHE IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

An unhealthy body, and the unhappiness and misery which follow may be prevented by ordinary judgment and care. Keep your stomach and kidneys in shape and you will have good health. The kidneys' work is to throw off the poisonous matters which enter the body. If they perform this work regularly and automatically the other organs will take care of themselves.

Diseased conditions of the bladder or kidneys are indicated by nervousness, sleeplessness, that tired, worn-out feeling, dizziness, nausea, backache, lumbago, rheumatism, pain in the lower abdomen, many so-called "neuralgic troubles," severe pain and discomfort when urinating, bloody, cloudy and stringy urine, too frequent or suppressed passages. All these are nature's signals to warn you of diseased kidneys or bladder, which may lead to fatal Bright's disease.

Don't wait until the danger is upon you. Go to your druggist at once. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL, HARMON OIL Capsules. They are made of the pure original, imported Harmon Oil, the kind your great-grandfather used. About two capsules each day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Money refunded if they do not help you. But remember to ask for the imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages, 25c, 50c and $1.00.

CORPORATE FRANCHISE TAX IN LOWELL

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 8.—Lowell's share in the first apportionment of the taxes collected by the commonwealth from corporations through the corporate franchise tax will be approximately $25,000 more than last year, the first payment to the city totaling $191,547.10, while last year it was only $165,995.47.

The gain is largely due to the big increase in the taxes assessed upon business corporations within the city's limits. The municipality obtaining a total of $123,485.57 from this source, while last year the amount was only $102,309.78. The street railway tax will net the city less than last year because of the condition of the Bay State Street Railway company, the figures being $5031.30 for 1917 and $7,633.26. Each of the other classes of corporations will yield to the city a revenue greater than last year. Public service corporations, other than street railways, will contribute $15,502.93, as compared with $10,309.73, while national banks will contribute $17,544.16, instead of $15,553.73.

All of these taxes, except the national bank tax, are assessed and collected in the same manner. Each is a tax upon the excess value of the stock of each corporation over and above the amount on which it is taxed locally for its real estate, machinery, merchandise, etc. This value is determined by the tax commissioner, and he assesses the tax, which is collected by the state treasurer.

In distributing the taxes, however, a distinctive method is provided for each class of corporations. In the case of each corporation, the commissioner retains for the commonwealth a share of its tax proportionate to the number of shares of stock owned outside of the commonwealth. All the rest is paid to the cities and towns.

Business corporations, except corporations going to the city or town in which its plant is located, and if it has more than one place of business, the tax is pro rated according to the value of the merchandise in each place.

The Street Railway

The street railway tax is distributed on the basis of mileage in each city and town, but as few of the street railways in Massachusetts have been making any considerable amount of money the past year, nearly all the municipalities find their revenue from this source reduced from last year. In distributing the taxes on other public service corporations, the commissioner has to follow two separate systems, some being distributed to the communities in which the stockholders reside, while others are distributed in the same proportion that the state tax is assessed, that is, on the basis of local property valuations. Railroad and telephone and telegraph companies come within the latter classification.

The national bank taxes take still another method of distribution. This tax is collected by the cities and towns in which the banks are located, and the amount paid by each bank is distributed by the tax commissioner proportionately to the cities and towns in which the stockholders reside.

Amounts Due Towns
The amount to be paid to each of the towns in the vicinity of Lowell, under each of the apportionments, is shown below:

Street railway tax—Bedford, $116.99; America, $160.39; Chelmsford, $346.20; Haverhill, $159.40; Lowell, $5031.30; Tyngsboro, $533.23; Tyngsboro, $533.23; Westford, $39.81.

Other public service corporations—Bedford, $184.12; Billerica, $142.02; Chelmsford, $186.39; Dracut, $510.43; Lowell, $45,502.93; Tyngsboro, $362.02; Tyngsboro, $161.56; Westford, $751.67.

National bank tax—Bedford, $124.03; Billerica, $174.06; Chelmsford, $152.33; Dracut, $17.36; Lowell, $17,544.16; Tyngsboro, $109.39; Tyngsboro, $125.36; Westford, $231.66.

Curtailment of the manufacture of pleasure cars, involving the existence of sales agencies, with an estimated investment of $600,000,000 scattered throughout the United States, is expected to be one of the hardest problems which the committee and war industries board will have to solve.

Assurances have been given that nothing will be done to cripple an industry which is estimated to support 5 per cent. of the country's population.

This course of medicine will be worth many times the cost when it removes that tired feeling, that paleness and anemic tendency, that warning of waning strength, that weakness of body that opens the way for disease, that backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble, constipation, and that grouchy touch of rheumatism.

Many people need this splendid combination to make perfect health. Others may not need all three, but almost everybody needs and will find relief in at least one of them.

AUTO INDUSTRY WAR BOARD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—John R. Lee and A. W. Copland of Detroit yesterday were named members of the official committee of three of the automobile industry to aid the government in applying the energies of the industry to the prosecution of the war.

Mr. Lee was named by Henry Ford and Mr. Copland by the motor accessories manufacturers. The third member of the committee will be appointed by the national automobile chamber of commerce.

Gradual conscription of a considerable part of the nation's motor manufacturing facilities for war purposes is expected to begin as soon as details can be worked out. It will be the duty of the new committee, working with the war industries board of the council of national defense, to adapt the industry to the needs of the government.

Priority shipment orders already have indicated what industries may be expected to be called on next for direct aid in bringing victory to the American arms. Restrictions on the shipment of materials for the manufacture of furniture, pianos and pleasure vehicles, and the construction of theatres and highways were placed several weeks ago.

BOYS FROM CAMP DEVENS AT ASSOCIATE HALL

The striking combination of the national colors and olive drab uniforms was the central and predominant theme of the decorations. Associate hall last evening when the members of Supply Train Truck Co., No. 6, from Camp Devens were the sponsors of a concert and dancing party that easily reached the first line trenches in the peace sector.

The news of the coming engagement

PRIVATE EDWARD F. QUINN

had slipped past the censor and the people of Lowell were ready for the attack. So they crowded the spacious hall, and shortly after 8 o'clock the bombardment of happiness began with General Gaiety in command. Miss Bertha Dion was the first to go over the top with a pleasing solo and when she returned to her trench she had captured the enthusiasm of the crowd. Walter Clough proved that he was no slacker in his number, and he, too, returned a victor. Mrs. May Dillon Doherty broke through the barbed wire entanglements with a snappy song, and Miss Alice Weston went through a barrage fire and proved herself a second Haig in her particular number.

When the battle was over Mayor James B. O'Donnell appeared in the Mayor's land and congratulated the performers on the excellent work which they had made. He extended felicitations to all the members of the truck company and especially to the Lowell boys in the unit.

At 9 o'clock a truce was declared, and general dancing began. Markham's orchestra furnished the marching numbers and the good time continued until midnight.

To Private Edward F. Quinn, floor director, must be given a major portion of credit for the victorious outcome of the engagement. He directed the attack with all the skill of a Petain and not even the exultation which the Germans must have experienced when they broke into Italy recently could have equalled the happiness of the members of their personal staff as they departed for their posts last evening.

The receipts of the affair are to be turned over to the men of the unit for their personal comforts, and they should be comfortable for a few weeks to come, at any rate.

Lieut. D. E. Spaulding was the general manager of the affair, and the officer showed that he knew his name whether on the battlefield or concert hall. A number of other officers were present last evening and these included First Lieut. W. D. Thorne, Second Lieut. J. B. Moody, Jr., Second Lieut. K. J. Travers, Second Lieut. J. W. Achorn, Second Lieut. D. E. Spaulding, Second Lieut. A. J. Anderson and Second Lieut. H. W. Thorpe. Lieut. Gerald P. Beane of Lowell and Lieutenants H. H. Dis-sell and T. C. Lee of the Depot brigade were also present.

The officers of the dance were: General manager, Lieut. D. E. Spaulding; assistant general manager, Sergt. T. A. Whalen; door director, Private E. F. Quinn; assistant door directors, Sergt. E. J. Carver, Sergt. O. J. Howe, Priv. J. A. Sheeney; chief aids, Corp. R. L. Parker, Priv. F. A. Grant, Priv. R. K. Keith; and all members of Truck company No. 6.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION BY PRESIDENT WILSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Wilson issued last night his 1917 Thanksgiving proclamation, calling upon the nation, even in the midst of the sorrow and great peril of a world shaken by war, to thank God for blessings that are better than mere peace of mind and prosperity of enterprise.

The proclamation, fixing Thursday, Nov. 29, as Thanksgiving day, follows:

"THANKSGIVING, 1917.
"By the President of the United States of America.

"A PROCLAMATION: It has long been the honored custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us as a nation. That custom we can follow now, even in the midst of the tragedy of a world shaken by war and immeasurable disaster, in the midst of sorrow and great peril, because even amidst the darkness that has befallen upon us, blessings that are better than mere peace of mind and prosperity of enterprise.

"We have been given the opportunity to serve mankind as we once served ourselves in the great day of our Declaration of Independence, by taking up arms against a tyranny that threatened to master and debase men everywhere and joining with other free peoples in demanding for all the nations of the world what we then demanded and obtained for ourselves. In this day of the revelation of our duty not only to defend our own rights as a nation but to defend also the rights of free men throughout the world, there has been vouchsafed us in full and inspiring measure the resolution and spirit of united action. We have been brought to one mind and purpose. A new vigor of common counsel and common action has been revealed in us. We should especially thank God that in such circumstances, in the midst of the greatest enterprise the spirits of men have ever entered upon, we have, if we but observe a reasonable and practicable economy, abundance with which to supply the needs of those associated with us as well as our own. A new light shines about us. The greatest duties of a new day awaken a new and greater national spirit in us. We shall never again be divided or wonder what stuff we are made of.

"And while we render thanks for these things, let us pray Almighty God that in all humbleness of spirit we may look always to Him for guidance; that we may be kept constant in the spirit and purpose of service; that by His grace our minds may be directed and our hands strengthened; and that in His good time liberty and security and peace and the comradeship of a common justice may be vouchsafed all the nations of the earth.

"Wherefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people throughout the land to cease upon that day from their ordinary occupations and in their several homes and places of worship to render thanks to God, the Great Ruler of nations.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done in the District of Columbia this 7th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-second.

WOODROW WILSON."

LOWELL RETAIL JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION ELECTIONS OFFICERS AT FIRST FALL MEETING

The Lowell Retail Jewelers' association held its first meeting of the fall season at the board of trade rooms last evening and the important business transacted was the election of officers for the coming year. David Harlow was the choice for president and the other officers were filled as follows: J. A. Elliott, vice president; David Perreault, treasurer; Frank Ricard, secretary. A rising vote of thanks was given to E. W. Freeman, the retiring president.

A committee was appointed to investigate the advisability of the association's renting club rooms which could be used not only for the purpose of the association members but also as show rooms for traveling jewelry salesmen. A report will be made at the next meeting.

L. R. Smith of the New Haven Clock Co. spoke on radio and its use in time of war. He said that the employment of radium was only in its infant stages and that as the war goes on and the manifold uses of the element become apparent its value to the jewelry industry will increase proportionately. At the conclusion of his address Mr. Smith was elected an honorary member of the association.

Mr. Hutchins, manager of the city directory, spoke on the improvements which have been and are being made in the modern city directory and the value of these changes to such business houses as those conducted by the jewelers.

The question of joint advertising by members of the association was brought up and laid on the table and will be taken up at the next meeting. The secretary was instructed to investigate a proposition advanced by the Jewelers' Mutual Insurance Co.

An invitation to join the association was extended to S. Greenwald. The following members spoke on the advantages to be derived from membership in the association: Frank Ricard, David Harlow, J. A. Elliott, J. E. Lyle.

GRATIFICATION EXPRESSED IN LONDON PAPERS OVER JAPANESE-AMERICAN AGREEMENT

SMALLEST SHIP LOST IN YEAR

LONDON, Nov. 8.—A marked decrease in the British merchant ships sunk during the past week is noted in the admiralty report last night. Only eight vessels over 1600 tons were sunk by mine or submarines, and four vessels under that tonnage. No fishing vessels were sunk. The summary:

Arrivals, 2384; sailings, 3379.
British merchant vessels over 1600 tons sunk by mine or submarine, including two previously, eight; under 1600 tons, including one previously, four.

Fishing vessels sunk, none.
British merchant vessels unsuccessfully attacked, including five previously, six.

The sinkings of British merchant ships recorded in the latest admiralty report are the smallest in point of number since the unrestricted submarine warfare began last February. They are smallest also probably in tonnage, for while in the week ending Sept. 16 only eight vessels of 1600 tons or over were sunk, 20 vessels under that tonnage were destroyed. The next best record in point of number was in the week ending Sept. 20, when 13 vessels were sunk, 11 large and two small.

Italian Ship Loses
ROME, Nov. 8.—The Italian shipping losses from submarines in all seas for the week ending Nov. 4 were two steamers under 1000 tons and three sailing craft under 100 tons.

CHARMING SONG RECITAL BY NOTED BARITONE

A song recital that was well worth attending was given last evening in Colonial hall by Reinald Werrenrath, the baritone with a wide reputation, and the event proved to be one of the best musical events conducted in this city in a long time. Mr. Werrenrath is not unknown in Lowell, for he appeared here on a previous occasion under the auspices of the Lowell Choral society, and this in a measure was responsible for the audience which filled the hall last evening.

The noted baritone was accompanied on the piano by Harry Spier, a pianist of great ability, and much to the delight of his audience he sang in splendid voice no less than twelve numbers in French, German and English. At the close of the program the audience wanted more and the artist was recalled for two extra numbers, the first being "A Song of France," while the other was "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," which brought the audience to its feet to join in the final chorus.

The program was as follows:

LOWELL RETAIL JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION ELECTIONS OFFICERS AT FIRST FALL MEETING

The Lowell Retail Jewelers' association held its first meeting of the fall season at the board of trade rooms last evening and the important business transacted was the election of officers for the coming year. David Harlow was the choice for president and the other officers were filled as follows: J. A. Elliott, vice president; David Perreault, treasurer; Frank Ricard, secretary. A rising vote of thanks was given to E. W. Freeman, the retiring president.

A committee was appointed to investigate the advisability of the association's renting club rooms which could be used not only for the purpose of the association members but also as show rooms for traveling jewelry salesmen. A report will be made at the next meeting.

L. R. Smith of the New Haven Clock Co. spoke on radio and its use in time of war. He said that the employment of radium was only in its infant stages and that as the war goes on and the manifold uses of the element become apparent its value to the jewelry industry will increase proportionately. At the conclusion of his address Mr. Smith was elected an honorary member of the association.

Mr. Hutchins, manager of the city directory, spoke on the improvements which have been and are being made in the modern city directory and the value of these changes to such business houses as those conducted by the jewelers.

The question of joint advertising by members of the association was brought up and laid on the table and will be taken up at the next meeting. The secretary was instructed to investigate a proposition advanced by the Jewelers' Mutual Insurance Co.

An invitation to join the association was extended to S. Greenwald. The following members spoke on the advantages to be derived from membership in the association: Frank Ricard, David Harlow, J. A. Elliott, J. E. Lyle.

FIVE VICTIMS OF MIDNIGHT
FIRE BURIED TODAY

A most extraordinary funeral procession passed through the streets of Lowell this afternoon when four hearses bearing the bodies of the first four victims of the fire in Broughton avenue at midnight, Tuesday, followed by eight carriages containing mourners, wended their way from the funeral parlors of C. H. Molloy's Sons in Market street to St. Casimir's church in Lakeview avenue. The cortege of four hearses, the first of its kind ever seen in this city, attracted the attention of hundreds of people along the route of the procession.

The cortege reached the church at 1:30 o'clock and before the four caskets had been borne into the church, Undertaker Amedee Archambault, arrived with the fifth victim of the fire, who passed away this morning at St. John's hospital.

The funeral was that of Stanley Podgorn, and his daughters, Wadyslaw and Jan Podgorni, the latter aged two months, who died this morning.

SIX WOMEN KILLED IN IOWA LEADS IN FOOD
COLLAPSE OF BUILDING

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Six women were killed today when a four-story building in Brooklyn, which authorities say was condemned twenty years ago as unsafe, collapsed. Five bodies have been recovered by firemen who battled a fire following the explosion of an ammonia tank in the basement of the building when the crash occurred. Heavy machinery stored on the top floor is believed to have caused the collapse.

Coroner Wagner, after a preliminary investigation, ordered the arrest of Frederick Habcock, manager of the Decatur Mercantile company, one of the tenants, on a charge of culpable negligence.

LARGEST CORN
CROP IN HISTORY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—A corn crop larger by more than 65,000,000 bushels than ever grown in the history of American agriculture, is the prediction of the farmers of the United States this year. The department of agriculture today, in its preliminary estimate of the crop, placed the quantity at 2,131,933,900 bushels.

Conditions since the October forecast caused a reduction of about 19,700,000 bushels in the indicated output.

knocked at the door or rang the bell twice, doubting whether the first knock or the first ringing of the bell had been loud enough to be heard at the back of the house or away upstairs?

We do not dig up a flower or a little tree that we planted to see whether it is growing, but we must see that proper care is given to make sure our first work is not lost.

In other words, we must do what we did when we rang the bell twice to be sure not to lose our time for nothing.

Whatever we do we must do well, as we did when we built this store for people to use. We are not satisfied with our store. We are trying to make it better all the time. You can not guess how many doors late to be knocked at, and how many difficulties we sometimes have to overcome to get trustworthy goods we sell.

ARMY EXPECTED TO REMAIN
LOYAL TO "SAVIOR OF RUSSIA"

Fall of Kerensky Brings Most Serious Crisis of War — May Set Up New Government in Moscow — Armed Clash Expected—Japan May Send Troops Into Russia—Italians Fleeing Across Venetian Plains

Premier Kerensky and his government have been deposed by the extremist elements in Petrograd, plunging Russia into another of the numerous crises which she has been called upon to meet this year.

The present situation, however, seems by far the most serious that has presented itself, overshadowing in its possibilities all the other movements of the moment in connection with the great war.

Threat of Civil War

Threat of the civil war also is seen in the pronouncement of the radicals against elements in the army that do not bow to the new regime and declaration of forcible measures against the propertyed classes.

It remains to be seen, however, how far the Petrograd radicals will be backed up in their movement by the Russian democracy throughout the nation. So far there is no hint as to what measure of support they may expect outside of Petrograd.

Italians Still Retreating

Across the Venetian plains the Italians continue to retire to a new defense line where a stand probably will be made to stop an Austro-German advance upon Venice. The morale of the Italian armies is improving and British and French troops are speeding to northern Italy to the aid of Gen. Cadorna's harassed soldiers, who have now given up more than 2100 square miles of Italian territory.

The invaders, Berlin announces, have reached the Livenza river, between the Tagliamento and the Piave. Gen. Cadorna has indicated that the Italians might stand on the Livenza line, but it is not improbable that the Piave will form the main part of the position from which the allied troops will make a supreme effort to check and drive back the Austro-Germans. Apparently the Teuton units reaching the Livenza were not in great force, as Berlin makes no claim that the river has been crossed.

In retreating from the Tagliamento line the Italians were not as hurried as in the retreat from the Isonzo, and lost few prisoners and guns. The Italian rear guards apparently gave the invading vanguards more trouble than in the retirement to the Tagliamento. Official statement and news despatches throw little light on the progress of the Italian retreat from the Dolomite and Carnic Alps, nor is there any indication where this retirement will halt.

While the Tagliamento line became untenable through the drying up of the river, the streams behind Gen. Cadorna are larger and less susceptible to sudden changes. The Italians also have the advantage of more railroad lines and less mileage from important ports and manufacturing centers. The Austro-Germans, on the other hand, are getting farther away from their bases and their lines of supply and communication must be built up on the ruins left behind by the Italians.

British Success in West

In the capture of the important position of Passchendaele, northeast of Ypres, on Tuesday, the British took 400 prisoners. Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria did not attempt counter attacks yesterday, giving the Canadians time to strengthen the new position, probably the most valuable ever taken in the Flanders advance. From Passchendaele the British guns can reach many important points and the British now threaten the whole German line from the coast to Lille.

Petrograd Seized

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Maximalists have seized control of Petrograd and Premier Kerensky has been deposed, according to a despatch from the semi-official Russian news agency.

Leon Trotsky, president of the central executive committee of the Petrograd council of soldiers' and workmen's delegates, issued a declaration to the effect that the provisional government was no longer in existence and that some of its members had been arrested. The preliminary parliament has been dissolved.

To Propose Immediate Peace

The Russian news agency, which, as reported last night, was seized by the Maximalists, sends the following despatch from Petrograd, dated 9:20 o'clock last night:

"The day brought certain changes in the general situation in the capital. The Maximalist movement made fresh and fairly appreciable progress, but no disorders have taken place.

"Towards 5 o'clock in the afternoon the military revolutionary committee of the soldiers' and workmen's delegates issued a proclamation stating that Petrograd was in its hands, thanks to the assistance of the earlston, which enabled the coup d'etat to be brought about without bloodshed.

"The proclamation declares that the new government will propose an immediate and just peace, will hand the land to the peasants, and will summon the constituent assembly."

"Delegates from the three Cossack regiments quartered here declared they would not obey the provisional government and would not march against the soldiers and workmen's delegates, but that they were prepared to maintain public order.

"The Petrograd council of soldiers' and workmen's delegates held a meeting this afternoon, at which M. Trotsky made his declaration that the government no longer existed; that some of the minister had been arrested and that the preliminary parliament had been dissolved.

U.S. WAR BOARD IN LONDON
TO CONFER WITH ALLIES

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The special American commission to the allied conference arrived in London last night. It is headed by Col. E. M. House as special commissioner with the honorary rank of special ambassador.

"We had a pleasant and uneventful voyage," Col. House told The Associated Press. "The weather was fair. There were no submarines. It was the best vacation I have had in two years."

Conference Today

The members of the mission arose late this morning, much refreshed after their first comfortable night's sleep in many days. The first thing they did was to go into conference, with Col. House presiding. The meeting lasted an hour. Col. House outlined a tentative program for the next few days, calling for a series of conferences with British officials. Each member of the mission will discuss his portfolio with the British officials in charge of similar activities in England.

Admiral Benson had an early call to make on Admiral Jellicoe, first sea lord, and Gen. Bliss expected to visit the war office during the day.

"I am impatient to see with my own eyes the great efforts England is making towards solving the shipping problem," said Mr. Colby, "and with this end in view will pay an early visit to the great shipyards. America is now fully awake to the importance of tonnage in this war and is carrying out a program of unparalleled magnitude. Shipbuilding now takes priority over all other work in our country."

Some of the members of the mission are planning an early visit to France.

"I am here as a political representative of the American government, acquainting myself with the latest developments in official circles in England preparatory to going to France to attend the Paris allied conference," said Col. House. "Our stay in England will be brief and every hour will be crowded with conferences."

An official of the British government called upon Col. House at the residence of the Duke of Roxburgh to acquaint him with the political situation in Russia.

"It is too delicate and too serious a subject for me to comment on at this time," said the colonel.

This afternoon the colonel lunched with Mr. Balfour. He devoted the remainder of the day to conferences with British officials.

HEAVY SENTENCES FOR PRICES OF HAM AND TWO AVER SOLDIERS BACON DROP

AYER, Nov. 8.—Frank Keenan, a former prize fighter of Bridgeport, Conn., and Nicholas Costello of Waterbury, Conn., members of the drafted army at Camp Devens, today were sentenced by a general court-martial to 10 and 20 years respectively, in federal prison for assaulting Carl E. Clark of Waterbury, corporal of the guard, on the night of Oct. 13.

The conviction of the men met with general approbation because of the brutal nature of the attack on the corporal. Maj. Gen. Harry F. Hodges, commanding, issued orders that the sentence be read to every company at retreat tonight. Gen. Hodges said it was the first serious breach of discipline here and he wanted it impressed upon the 55,000 soldiers at Camp Devens that severe punishment would be dealt all offenders of similar cases.

Costello was ordered committed to the federal prison at Atlanta. Keenan will be sent to the army prison on Governor's island. The court also ordered that the prisoners be dishonorably discharged from the army.

Returning to camp late at night, Costello and Keenan were halted by Clark who was knocked down, clubbed and rendered unconscious.

FIRE FIRST SHOT AT GERMANS

First American Artillery Unit to Establish Contact With Germans

Returns From Trenches as Band Plays "The Campbells Are Coming"

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Nov. 7.—(By The Associated Press)—The first American artillery unit to establish contact with the Germans came back to its billets today. The men were tired and muddy, but still as enthusiastic a lot of soldiers as ever came out of gun pits. The artillery had a longer stay at the front than the infantry and they came back, men and horses, wet to the bone, covered with mud and ready to sleep. Their "home-coming" was one that will long be remembered in this section of France. It was late in the day when long lines of marching soldiers and straining horses were seen rounding a small mountain many miles away. From the village toward which they were marching the column could be seen winding around the mountain to the valley upon a nearer hill and then down again. The rain was beating in their faces and a village snuggling in a valley came into their view as they crossed the crest of the hill. Below them stood a group in uniform. Above the group floated the American flag and a number of children were gathered about. Suddenly the band—for the group of uniforms was a band—started a tune that brought a smile to the face of even the most tired artilleryman in the column. It was "The Campbells Are Coming." Some of the artillerymen cheered and the bearers of the red battery pennants raised themselves in their saddles and waved the pennants. The entire command was immediately drawn up on a hillside and a gun, covered with camouflage paint, was drawn out in front. On the gun shield an artilleryman had written in chalk: "The first gun for the Germans." The colonel in command of an American of the townspiece a moment and addressing the men, told them the people of the village wished to do honor to the gun and its crew and to the American army. The children gathered around and placed a floral wreath over the grim barrel and a bunch of wild flowers into the empty case of the first shot fired. The regimental band then played the American and French national anthems.

That was all the ceremony, but the sight of Americans returning from combat with the Germans cheered the populace of the village so that when the troops' disappointed many old men and many women came up to them either to shake hands or to put their arms affectionately around their shoulders. There is not much sentiment in the make-up of an American artilleryman. His one idea is that he is France to fight, so it took a moment or two for the men to decide to accept the demonstration of approval. Even when this was done the Americans were more or less embarrassed and many actually blushed. Tonight the artillery men turned in at 6 o'clock. Tomorrow they will not be called out until hours after the regular time.

Despite the hardships not a man was heard to grumble except about the fact that no mail from home was waiting for him. Every one declared enthusiastically that the firing of shells at the Boche would be "fine business." All were anxious to go back again. In this command there was not one casualty despite the length of its stay at the front and the fact that the Germans shelled the American artillery heavily several times. The officers said the night the American trench was raided the artillery got into action quickly and poured a counter barrage into No Man's Land. The members of the crew which fired the first shot at the Germans admitted that they enjoyed the experience greatly. One gunner remarked that he would rather have had that experience and honor as a "back-packer" than to be a major general. The crew is composed of youngsters. They come from South Bend, New York, Minneapolis, and Baltimore, New Orleans and Douglas, Ariz.

U. S. GUNNER SANK U-BOAT

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Nov. 8.—Information that an American shell fired by an American naval gunner sank a Teutonic submarine in the Mediterranean is contained in a report that has been made to the navy department by the officers of an American freight steamer which arrived here recently. It was learned today.

The vessel, of about 3000 tons gross, was returning from an Italian port in ballast after taking a cargo of war munitions from America to Italy. A report of her previous capture from a torpedo was recently made public, but the fate of her attacker was not mentioned. The torpedo was discovered approaching from the starboard side an hour before nightfall, and the crew, expecting an explosion, hurried to the port rail, arriving in time to see the torpedo emerge from under the ship and pass harmlessly on.

The naval gunners had remained at their posts. The periscope of a submarine appeared above the water. Three American shells fired from the ship's bow gun and two from stern gun missed the submarine, but the sixth shot, from the stern gun, struck it at the base of the periscope, according to the officer's report. There was an explosion which shattered the submarine's shell, and she sank with all on board.

HAVERHILL CRIPPLE FINDS HIS "LOST" LEGS

HAVERHILL, Nov. 8.—Haverhill has lost one legless man and found a pair of lost legs. Explosion? No—selling pencils.

For a long time a "poor cripple" evidently minus a left hand, apparently minus both legs below the knees, has been sitting on the sidewalks of the city, cap in his lap and mute appeal in his eyes. He usually proffered chewing gum or pencils. Yesterday the legless man was playing his mendicant trade seated on the cold stones at the entrance to a narrow alley, off Main street, where a motor truck had in view and crossed the street to enter the alley. Some one shouted a warning at once to the driver and the cripple. The man jumped to help the legless man. When they put their hands under his arms to help him to safety, Haverhill's legless man found that he was not alone. He was surrounded by two sound legs and walked hastily away, saying things he never learned from motherly and sympathetic old ladies who bought his wares.

PRIVATE PAUL CHAPPELL WRITES FROM FRANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Chappell of 13 Ash street have received a letter from their son, Private Paul R. Chappell of Battery F, announcing his safe arrival in France. The letter was received Saturday and the writer says that it seemed like traveling around the world to make the journey from this country. The food which the men are receiving is O. K. and all of them are feeling fine. There was a little loneliness on the journey across, but Private Chappell was fortunately exempted. The usual plea for cigarettes and shaving soap is made, and a box containing these articles has already been sent to the Lowell boy by his parents.

CAPTURE OF PASSENDUELE CONSIDERED OF EXTRAORDINARY IMPORTANCE

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The capture of Passenduele is dealt with in the editorials in this morning's newspapers as of extraordinary importance and as completing the long and persistent efforts for the ridges north and south of the Somme, which is considered are the symbols of a great strategic conception for the development of which their capture was the essential preliminary.

"The possession of the ridges gives the British a dominating position in West Flanders. Whenever we choose we can be able to take the ridges, but until the positions were held today."

The Daily Mail says:

"The capture of Passenduele is one of the greatest events of the war. The Ypres salient is a thing of the past, or rather it has been turned against the Germans. We now threaten the German positions on the coast and on Lille."

NEW REVOLUTION IN RUSSIA

courtesy First, immediate conclusion of the war, for which purpose the new government must propose an armistice to the belligerents; second, the handing over of the land to the peasants; third, settlement of the economic crisis.

"At the close of the sitting a declaration was read from the representatives of the democratic Maximalist party of the soldiers and workmen's delegates, stating that the party disapproved of the coup d'etat and withdrew from the council of soldiers and workmen's delegates."

Civil War Threatened

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Kerensky's fall and the collapse of his government in Petrograd into the hands of the Maximalists, who propose a separate peace with Germany, is regarded here as threatening Petrograd with the civil war which all her friends hoped to see avoided.

The state department, entirely without advice of its own, was silent, wishing to avoid making any statements until the situation could be accurately assessed on the basis of information received from Ambassador Francis at Petrograd.

Armed Clash Expected

The general opinion here among those in the United States best informed of Russian affairs is that Kerensky and his followers probably will at once set up a new government at Moscow, leaving Petrograd to the Maximalists and those troops that adhere to them. An armed clash is counted among the first probabilities, but it is said here that the greater part of the army is expected to remain loyal to the Kerensky government.

New Problem For Conference

The war council of the co-belligerents, just about to assemble in Europe to arrange policies of coordination of fighting forces, is now faced with a new and great problem at its very outset.

The immediate effect upon the part which the United States must play in the shifting of world events turns the burdens of war more and more to the American people cannot be assessed accurately at this time. The treasury already has authorized credits of $325,000,000 to Russia, and of that sum probably half already has been drawn upon for supplies bought in this country.

America and Japan Help

American aid has not been limited merely to money and the confidence of the government in Kerensky and his adherents has freely and frequently been expressed. The visit of the American mission, headed by Elihu Root, is fresh in the public memory.

An American commission of eminent railroad men now is being brought out of chaos on Russia's transportation systems and already has increased efficiency in some directions at least 50 per cent.

Japan, at the same time, has been supplying aid to Russia, in virtually every way, principally in war munitions, for which the Russian government has been able to pay almost nothing at all as yet.

Japan May Send Troops

It is the possibility that Japan might send troops into Russia to support the provisional government, but no one here who would be authorized to speak on the subject care to do so.

Some idea of what Russia faces on her fighting lines may be gained from the latest report to the Russian command.

To Make Hairs Vanish From Face, Neck or Arms

Keep a little powdered deodorant handy and when hairy growths appear make a paste with some of the powder and a little water, then spread over hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes rub off wash the skin and it will be entirely free from hair or bluish. This simple treatment is unfeeling, but care should be exercised to be sure and get genuine deodorant, otherwise you may be disappointed.

COL. WARREN SWEETSER BACK ON DUTY

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Col. Warren E. Sweetser, former commander of the Sixth regiment, Mass. National Guard, has returned from Washington, having been declared perfectly free of tubercular taint. At the time the flying squadron of "heavies" and "lungs" physicians made their tour through the state, throwing out hundreds of men discovered to be suffering from tuberculosis, Col. Sweetser was ordered to a Washington hospital under observation. The observation resulted in a negative report, with the colonel back on the line ready to take his place wherever ordered.

Col. Sweetser reported yesterday to Brig.-Gen. E. Leroy Sweetser at the headquarters of the department of the northeast. It is believed that he will be given command of the new French-speaking regiment of infantry, which is to be organized for provost guard duty in France. The several regiments of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont National Guard which are now quartered at Framingham and Westfield will be drawn upon to fill the ranks of this regiment. Only the best drilled men in the various regiments will be taken for the new organization.

ENGLAND HAS 3,000,000 MEN ABROAD

MANCHESTER, Eng., Nov. 8.—The British chancellor of the exchequer, Andrew Bonar Law, at a great war aims meeting last night declared that Great Britain could look to the future not only with hope, but with absolute confidence. He said that Great Britain's overseas force is more than three million, adding: "A mightier force never existed."

Great Britain had trebled the airplane engine production since October, 1916.

"As for the submarine campaign," continued the chancellor, "I can say with certainty that it is not going to bring us to our knees."

Referring to the Italian situation, Mr. Bonar Law said:

"We are watching with the deepest anxiety what is happening in Italy, with deep anxiety, but not without hope."

He believed the Italian army would be able to stop the German advance until aid had come from Great Britain and France.

He said further:

"A determined effort is being made by a small section to frighten depositors, particularly small investors, from lending money to the state, saying that it is unsafe. Nothing could be more absurd. It is also nonsense to say that the debt would be repudiated. We have no doubt that whatever the cost, the nation did not intend that that should be the end. He asserted that the war launched early this year was better than the government had thought. The government had thought of raising another loan this autumn, but there were reasons which made it desirable to try other methods. He had, therefore, tried the experiment of getting weekly the money needed, and the bankers were eager that this plan should be adopted."

WOMEN SOLDIERS GUILT PREMIER

The premier explained that those who had been released were on bail and that any of them found participating in new offenses against peace would be severely dealt with.

Numerous precautions have been taken by Premier Kerensky to thwart the threatened outbreak of the Bolsheviks. The arrested strikers, government buildings have been placed by men from the officers' training schools. Small guards have been placed at the entrances to the women's battalions drawn up in the square in front of the winter palace.

The commander on the northern front has informed the premier that his troops are assuming any demonstration and are ready to come to Petrograd to quell a rebellion if necessary.

Trotsky's Threat to Execute Rioters

Leon Trotsky, president of the central executive committee of the Petrograd council of soldiers' and workmen's delegates, has informed members of the town duma that he has given strict orders against rioting, and has threatened with death any persons attempting to carry out programs.

Trotsky added that it was not the intention of the workmen's and soldiers' delegates to use force against the military committee of the soldiers' and soldiers' delegates, but has ordered the ministry of justice to prosecute the members of the committee.

The revolutionary military committee of the soldiers and workmen's delegates demanded the right to control the government has decided not to use armed force at present against the military committee of the soldiers' and soldiers' delegates, but has ordered the ministry of justice to prosecute the members of the committee.

Not to Use Force Against Workmen

The government has decided not to use armed force at present against the military committee of the soldiers' and soldiers' delegates, but has ordered the ministry of justice to prosecute the members of the committee.

CANCER ON INCREASE, YET PREVENTIVE WAYS ARE WELL KNOWN

The figures of the United States census mortality returns indicate that deaths from cancer are increasing in many districts in this country, more than 10,000 and over in the United States and Canada in 1911.

Competent investigators estimated that in the year 1900 there were in England 10,000 cases of cancer, and one man in 14 died likewise.

At the present time there is no definite knowledge as to the cause of cancer, though various theories have been advanced and many investigators are constantly engaged with the problem. Fortunately, there are measures of proven efficiency which may be used to fight against the increase of cancer.

First there is the fact that cancer is not contagious.

Secondly it is now well established that the majority of cancer cases can be prevented by suitable operative measures if the condition is recognized promptly at its onset.

The onset of cancer is usually insidious. There is no pain associated with its beginning. Pain is a late symptom, occurring when the growth has become so extensive as to render measures for relief impracticable.

At first it is a small, painless, hard lump, and from that point gradually and steadily spreads till later it reaches a point where its removal is impossible. Persons over 35 should consult a competent physician whenever—

There is any persistent sore, ulceration and hardening of the skin. Moles and warts show a tendency to ulcerate, to bleed or to increase in size. Sores, thickened, or ulcers of the tongue and mouth are present.

MOVEMENT FOR HIGHER PASSENGER FARES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The New Haven and Central New England railroads today joined the movement for higher passenger fares in New England by asking the interstate commerce commission for permission to raise mileage rates from 2 1/4 to 2 1/2 cents a mile and one way passenger fares from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents. The New Haven also sought authority to increase a number of class freight rates by varying amounts ranging from 10 to 20 per cent.

GERMAN WHO FLED CAMP CAPTURED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—Hedwidge Tante, who escaped from an enemy detention camp at Fort McIntosh near San Antonio, Tex., and was arrested here this week after his arrival from Mexico City, will be taken back to Fort McIntosh. Federal authorities said yesterday they had traced the man to Mexico, after his escape, and got him back to the United States after conferring with German officials in the Mexican capital. Tante came to this country soon after war was declared, and for a time worked in New Jersey. Later he appeared in several states under assumed names, and finally was arrested in Texas and interned. He escaped last June.

Guetano Malandrino, assault with intent to murder.

SUPERIOR COURT

The case of Mary T. Duggan, administratrix, vs. the Bay State Street Ry. Co., an action of tort, the ad damnum of which is $10,000, which was being tried at the civil session of the superior court was brought to a close last yesterday afternoon and given to the jury this morning.

The next case to go to trial was that of Mary McNamee vs. the Boston Elevated Railway Co., an action of tort, for personal injuries received in a fall from a car. The plaintiff alleges permanent injury to her right ear as a result of the breaking of a glass in a car owned and operated by the company. Benson Silverblatt for the plaintiff and Andrew Marshall for the company.

MYSTERIOUS EXPLOSION WRECKS BIG PLANT

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 8.—An explosion of mysterious origin late last night caused the wrecking of one of the plant of the American Smelting Co. The damage is estimated at $75,000. None of the 900 men employed by the company was in the building at the time. Authorities are investigating the cause.

RED CROSS FACTORY FOR MANUFACTURE OF HOSPITAL GARMENTS OPENED

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A Red Cross factory for the manufacture of hospital garments, operated entirely by volunteers who serve without pay, began its activities here today with more than one thousand workers, the majority of them women.

The factory will run five days a week for six hours a day. The workers are held to the same standards of efficiency as if they were working for wages and a fine will be imposed for unnecessary absence.

Eventually it is expected that the number of workers will be increased to 2500. More than 150 dozen hospital garments will be turned out weekly according to present estimates.

SECOND LIBERTY LOAN

TOTAL $4,617,532,300

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Americans responded to the call for a second Liberty war loan by subscribing $4,617,532,300, an over-subscription by 54 per cent of the $3,000,000,000 asked, and only $382,000,000 less than the $5,000,000,000 maximum fixed by the treasury.

Tabulations completed last night showed that every federal reserve district exceeded its quota and 9,400,000 persons subscribed in the big war financing operation, which Sec. McAdoo described as the greatest ever attempted by any government.

Half of the over-subscribed sum will be accepted, making the actual total of bonds to be issued $3,500,000,000.

Ninety-nine per cent of the subscribers will receive the amount for which they subscribed, all subscriptions for $50,000 or less being allotted in full, and those above that amount being paid down in varying proportions, ranging from a 90 per cent allotment on subscriptions between $50,000 and $100,000 to 10 per cent for the largest single subscriptions of $500,000.

Augsurs Well for Future Loans

"The success of the second Liberty loan, like that of the first, is a distinct triumph for the people of the United States," said Secretary McAdoo last night. "It not only demonstrated their ability, patriotism and resources, but augurs the certain success of any future loans that may be offered by the government."

The secretary added a denial of reports that the third loan would be solicited in January 1918.

"In view of the large over-subscription of the second Liberty loan," he said, "I am glad to state that this will not be necessary."

It has been generally understood that the third loan would be sought probably in late February or early March next year.

The New York federal reserve district subscribed nearly three times as much as the second district on the list. Chicago. The results in each district follow:

	Total	Quota	P.C.
New York	$1,550,453,450	900,000,000	172
Chicago	586,853,350	420,000,000	139
Cleveland	438,106,800	300,000,000	146
Boston	476,560,050	300,000,000	159
Pittsburgh	359,530,250	250,000,000	144

Although only 1 per cent of subscriptions were for sums of above $50,000, for which only partial allotment will be made, $2,129,000,000 or nearly half the aggregate, was made up by larger sums. More than three-quarters of a billion dollars were subscribed in individual amounts of more than $1,000,000.

Percentage of Allotments

The allotment of subscriptions over $50,000 was authorized by Secretary McAdoo as follows:

Between $50,000 and $100,000 inclusive, 50 per cent, but not less than $20,000 will be allotted, reducing $260,000,000 subscribed to $222,000,000 allotted.

Between $100,000 and $200,000 inclusive, 75 per cent, but not less than $50,000 will be allotted, reducing $242,000,000 subscribed to $181,500,000.

MISERABLE FROM FOOD CONSERVATION IN GREAT BRITAIN

STOMACH TROUBLE

Felt Wretched Until He Started To Take "Fruit-a-lives"

504 CHAMPLAIN ST., MONTREAL.

"For two years, I was a miserable sufferer from Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble. I had frequent Dizzy Spells, and when I took food, felt wretched and sleepy. I suffered from Rheumatism dreadfully, with pains in my back and joints, and my hands swollen.

A friend advised 'Fruit-a-lives' and from the outset, they did me good. After the first box, I felt I was getting well and I can truthfully say that 'Fruit-a-lives' is the only medicine that helped me." LOUIS LABRIE.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ogdensburg, N.Y.

than $4,000,000, reducing $250,000,000 subscribed to $102,500,000.

Only 40.5 per cent, or $26,407,600, of the single $50,000,000 subscription, the largest received, will be allotted.

Second Payment Due Nov. 15

Subscriptions to the first Liberty loan, which closed June 15, were $3,025,000,000, a 50 per cent over-subscription of the $2,000,000,000 offered. There were then 4,000,000 subscribers, and allotments were made in full on subscriptions of $10,000 and less.

In the second Liberty loan payment of 50 per cent of the subscription amount was required with the application and thousands of purchasers of the smaller bonds, particularly of $50 and $100 denominations, have cashed in full. From these payments $151,000,000 already has been received by the treasury.

The second installment of 18 per cent will fall due on Nov. 15, Thursday, Nov. 15, 40 per cent additional will be due Dec. 15, and the last installment of 40 per cent will be due Jan. 15, 1918.

Sec. McAdoo Issues Thanks

Sec. McAdoo in a statement said: "This great loan would have been impossible without the loyal support and co-operation of the people of this country, but even that support could not have been secured except for the indefatigable, unselfish and earnest work of hundreds of thousands of splendid men and women who threw themselves into the task without reservation."

"I wish to thank all these splendid volunteers and patriots and I particularly wish to thank the Boy Scouts of America, the Liberty loan organizations which were formed in every state, city, town and community, the women of America who made a distinctive fight for the Liberty loan through their own organizations throughout the country, the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, the newspapers and periodicals, which gave, as in the first Liberty loan, an effective, unselfish and generous support through their columns and otherwise; the press associations, the business houses, co-operative and fraternal societies and other organizations throughout the length and breadth of the land which so generously and earnestly gave their services to the great cause."

"Thanks are due also to those employers who, in such large numbers, gave the fullest opportunity to their employees to subscribe to the loan upon terms commensurate with their ability to make the required payments."

"I should like to make special mention of the soldiers and sailors of America who came forward with subscriptions amounting to a greater capita than those received from the civil population. These gallant men are not only giving their services and their lives to their country, but are lending their money in a patriotic way to the government in this great war for America's rights and world democracy."

Explaining the failure to accept the full amount of subscriptions, Sec. McAdoo declared the government was a matter of policy must abide by the announcement of plans made Oct. 1.

GERMANS INCITED TO CAPTURE AMERICANS

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—In a letter received yesterday by Capt. Eugene A. Carter of the Somerville police from Richard A. Skane, 1st sergeant in Co. B, 14th Engineers, American expeditionary forces, who wrote from "Somewhere in France," the sergeant sets forth the reward offered by the German government for the capture of the first Americans.

"This is the first chapter I had to go to the base," writes Skane, "since we were ordered to co-operate with the British four months ago. The Spanish war is nothing but a sideshow compared with this war. I have seen a lot of action at the front line trenches, and if the censor would permit it I could give you lots of news concerning the various drives and great slaughter going on at the various fronts."

"Well, the sooner the Somerville companies come the quicker this thing will be over. I read for the first time about a reward offered to Fritz (that is what we call the Germans) of 300 marks, an iron cross and three weeks' leave for the first American captured. 'Some inducement, isn't it?' Well, Fritz that captures one of our boys will certainly earn it all right. I feel that I am serving the best country in the world and from what I have seen of other countries I thank God that I am a United States soldier."

"Paper and envelopes are mighty scarce with us at the front, and our letters have to be few. I know that you are a busy man, but I do hope you can find time to write a few words. A letter from God's country is worth more than money. I go back for another crack at Fritz tomorrow morning."

CONVERSE MEMORIAL LIBRARY AT AMHERST COLLEGE DEDICATED TODAY

AMHERST, Nov. 8.—The Converse Memorial Library at Amherst college was dedicated today. The new building, erected at a cost of $250,000, is the gift of Edmund C. Converse of New York, in memory of his brother, James B. Converse, who was a member of the class of 1867 at Amherst.

Mr. Converse, Herbert Putnam, librarian of congress, and George A. Putnam of New York, president of the board of trustees of the college, came here to participate in the exercises.

The library building, dedicated by William Brewster, Mead of New York, is of brick and limestone. The building has a capacity of 10,000 volumes. The entire third floor and most of the second are divided into rooms which are to be made centers of advanced study for all the non-academic departments of the college.

LONDON, Nov. — (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—England must husband her food supply if her people expect America to economize in food for their sakes, is to be the plea of a "League of national safety" which soon will be launched from the headquarters of the director-general of national economy. Members of the league will be advised that the people of the United States cannot be expected to have food for the benefit of England unless they are convinced that the British people are in earnest in adhering to a food ration. "Visitors returning to America from here should have no reason to report anything approaching scenes of luxury or extravagance," is the warning issued to members of the league.

The members are urged to observe the following rules:—

Fresh meat to be served only once a day. No second helpings. Roast meat to be avoided as much as possible; it is wasteful.

Bread with the mid-day meal only if specially asked for. One slice less a day to be eaten.

One "pete day" a week, to be as nearly as possible a breadless day. No butter with bread and jam.

Never more than one egg per head at any meal.

No early morning cup of tea.

The open sugar bowl at table to be abolished.

The league will make a special appeal to those whose wages, or incomes have been increased by the war.

AMSTERDAM, November — German newspapers announce that the army physicians have discovered a successful method of curing the nervous affliction so frequent among disabled soldiers, which causes a constant trembling of the whole or part of the body.

Dr. Ernst Bayer, head of the nerve hospital at Roderbirken, has outlined a method of electrical treatment, which it is claimed, often effects a complete cure in a few days, and is almost invariably effective within a period of three weeks. The newspapers describe his method as follows:—"By the application of a gentle current which causes no pain whatever, good results have been obtained in a few minutes or at the longest two and a half hours. A course of treatment is required after this, which does not last more than two or three weeks, and in light cases is finished in a few days. New attacks may occur due to excitement or nerve strain, but are easily cured."

COPENHAGEN, Nov. — The proceeds of the Danish sea fisheries more than doubled during the past year, while the quantity of the catch increased about 40 per cent. The value for last year was nearly $18,000,000. The number of Danish fishermen is now 19,000, an increase of about 1000, and the fishing boats number 15,400, valued at $5,000,000.

PETROGRAD, Nov. — The Association of Managers and Editors of Petrograd daily newspapers has published a statement informing newspaper readers that the press may very soon find itself in a critical condition in consequence of the enormous increase in the cost of material and labor, wear and tear of machinery which cannot be replaced, and of the strike in paper mills.

MANAGER LEATHERS OF THE TELEPHONE COMPANY EXPLAINS "DON'T ANSWER" REPORTS

Manager Leathers of the telephone company made the interesting statement the other day that the principal reason telephone users receive "don't answer" reports is because subscribers are very likely to be some distance away when the bell rings or not within hearing.

When asked to explain, he said: "The company recently made a special effort to reduce the criticisms of failure to answer calls. It was found that 70.6 per cent of the calls investigated subscribers were absent from the station called for or not within hearing of the bell; in 21.4 per cent the subscribers were not within hearing of the bell but did not answer; in 10.9 per cent the called subscribers were extremely slow in answering; in .08 per cent the called subscribers were not conveniently located; in 5.8 per cent incorrect numbers were given by calling subscribers and the remaining 2.3 per cent were miscellaneous cases."

The investigation showed several curious and odd conditions that prevented telephone users from getting the number called. These included giving a false telephone number, playing with and stuffing the bells with paper or cloth to prevent the ringing, if telephone users would hear in mind, and last but not least, a subscriber's phone call is just as important as ours, there would be very few 'don't answer' reports."

INVITE ALL GOVERNORS TO CONVENTION OF NATIONAL ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

WESTERVILLE, O., Nov. 8.—Plans are going forward for what prohibition leaders declare will be the most important national convention ever held by the National Anti-Saloon League when the body convenes at Washington, Dec. 18. According to announcement made here at the national headquarters of the league, the governors of every state will be invited to attend and make addresses.

William Jennings Bryan will speak. Representatives of organized labor of the grangers, merchants and manufacturers as well as the leaders in public life are to be asked to address the convention and give special emphasis upon efforts to make the United States dry through the passage of an amendment to the federal constitution. A resolution looking to that end has been adopted by the league and is to be brought in the house early in December. Delegates from all parts of the country will attend.

Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, Representative Edwin Yates Webb of North Carolina, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho and Representative Simeon D. Potts of Ohio have signaled their interest in the convention. Other speakers include Capt. R. P. Hobson of Alabama, Sam W. Smith of Indiana and Mrs. W. A. Gorden of Evanston, Ill., president of the National Women's Christian Temperance union.

It is announced that every individual church organization of every denomination; every young people's society and temperance organization is entitled to send a delegate. Churches will be urged to send their pastors.

JAM FOR BRITISH ARMY

LONDON, Nov. — The British army in France gets nearly 2,000,000 pounds of jam every week from this country. The daily ration of three ounces of jam for each man is a source of comfort to the British soldier, who is not allowed to have more than a half an ounce of jam a day.

The Danger of Imitations.

AN OHIO druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."

To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. Your experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine. If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."

No mother with a spark of affection for her child will overlook the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when buying Castoria.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mrs. Wm. Palmer, Sterling, Ill., says: "Your Castoria has been my friend for twenty years. I could not keep my children well without it. I cannot speak too highly of your wonderful remedy."

Mrs. Frank H. Cafferty, of Providence, R. I., says: "If all young mothers would use Castoria it will bring up their child. My nurse and doctor can also tell what your Castoria can do."

Howard A. Banks, of Hickory, N. C., says: "Your Castoria is the only physic we ever give our three babies. The fact that we use it proves it is probably the reason we never have to use any other."

Mrs. A. J. Nelson, of Waco, Texas, says: "Enclosed you will find a picture of 'Our little Castoria boy.' When a week old I ordered your Castoria for him, and I have never been up a night with him since."

Mrs. Eva Ott Melin, of Jersey City, N. J., says: "I attribute the present excellent condition of my baby to your Castoria which he has been using since he was three weeks old. I have not lost a night's sleep in seven months."

JUTE YARN ARRIVES

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Nov. 8.—Officers of a neutral freight steamer which arrived yesterday told today of a submarine scare which created much excitement when the vessel was nearing port off an island on the Atlantic coast on Tuesday last, the lookout sighted what appeared to be a periscope. The alarm was given and lifeboats were swung out. But when the underside of the boat came to a few minutes later it was learned that it was an American war vessel.

REFUSE CONCERT LICENSE TO PITTSBURGH

FRITZ KREISLER IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—Charles S. Hubbard, director of public safety, yesterday ordered the police department to refuse a concert license to Fritz Kreisler, the violinist, who was advertised to appear in Carnegie hall about two million dollars. The director stipulated, however, that Kreisler's manager be sworn to the war camp community recreation fund. The sustaining members also announced that they would give tickets entitling them to admission to the clubs at all times.

The Boston committee has received subscriptions of $124,279 toward its quota of $200,000.

from a number of patriotic organizations and from many individuals against the Kreisler concert. They took the ground that since Kreisler was an officer in the Austrian army and Austria was the ally of America's enemy, it would be unpatriotic to permit him to appear at a public entertainment.

KING GEORGE SAYS WAR ENTERS LAST PHASE

DAY OF PRAYER

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The king has addressed a letter "to my people," appointing Sunday, Jan. 6 as "A special day of prayer and thanksgiving in all churches throughout my dominions." The king says:—"The world-wide struggle for the triumph of right and liberty is entering upon its last and most difficult phases. The enemy is striving by desperate assault and subtle intrigue to perpetuate the wrongs already committed and to stave off the day of a free civilization. We have yet to complete the great task to which more than three years ago we dedicated ourselves."

"At such a time I would call upon you to devote a special day to prayer, that we may have the clear-sightedness and strength necessary to the victory of our cause."

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home when the whole family is there to read it. The Sun fills this field in Lowell.

Are Told How to Find Relief from Pain.

Nashua, N. H. — "I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I used to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me." — DELINA MARTIN, 29 Bowers Street, Nashua, N. H.

FIRST AMERICANS KILLED IN WAR

Three Soldiers Buried With
High Military Honors In
France

Tribute by French Officer
Punctuated by Roar of
Guns and Whistle of Shells

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY
IN FRANCE, Nov. 6. (By The Associated Press.)—The first three American soldiers killed in the trenches in France are sleeping tonight in French soil, honored by the American army and the people and army of France. Their final internment took place yesterday.

With a guard of French infantrymen in their picturesque uniforms of red and horizon blue standing on one side and a detachment of American soldiers on the other, the flag-wrapped caskets were lowered into the grave as a bugler blew taps and the batteries at the front fired minute guns. As the minute guns went off, the French officer commanding the division in this section paid tribute to the fallen Americans. His words, which were punctuated by the roar of the guns and the whistle of shells, touched both the French and Americans.

French Officer's Tribute

"In the name of the French army and in the name of France, I bid farewell to Private Enright, Private Gresham and Private Hay of the American army."

"Of their own free will they had left a prosperous and happy country to come over here. They knew what length and hardship of war, nor the violence of battle, nor the dreadfulness of new weapons, nor the perils of the foe. Nothing stopped them. They accepted the hard and strenuous life; they crossed the ocean at great peril; they took their places on the front by our side and they have fallen facing the foe in a hard and desperate hand-to-hand fight. Honor to them. Their families, friends and fellow citizens will be proud when they learn of their deaths."

"Men! These graves, the first to be dug in our national soil and but a short distance from the enemy, are a mark of the mighty land we and our allies firmly cling to in the common task, confirming the will of the people and the army of the United States to fight with us to a finish, ready to sacrifice as long as is necessary until final victory has been won. Notable of causes, that of the liberty of nations, the weak as well as the mighty. Thus the deaths of these

AN UNUSUAL ANNIVERSARY SALE

Because of our unusual youth, being but for the past twelve months an established man's shop of this city, our stock of necessity can be only composed of apparel practically fresh from the hands of the respective manufacturers.

Because of these unusual times, unusual bargains will have to be offered to make this sale the success we wish it to be.

Because of the fact, that is too well known by the shrewd buyers of this city to need further elucidation here, that our stock throughout is generally marked at prices which appear unusual, therefore the prices for this sale must, if they are to make an impression at all on the readers of this advertisement, be so unusually unusual that our customers will not only buy for present day needs, but also anticipate their wants for the future and also prepare for them.

"We will, therefore, ask that the mortal remains of these young men be left there, left with us forever. We inscribe on the tomb: 'Here lie the first soldiers of the republic of the United States to fall on the soil of France for liberty and justice.' The passerby will stop and uncover his head. Travellers and men of heart will go out of their way to come here to pay their respective tributes."

Y. M. C. A. FATHER AND SON BANQUET

The annual father and son banquet of the Young Men's Christian association was held last night at the association building in Merrimack street. The speaker of the evening was C. C. Robinson of Boston and New York. He explained that there is a campaign on for 100,000 boys to raise $1,000,000 for war work, each boy to earn $10.

Mr. Robinson proved to be a very interesting speaker and the stories he told of the work of the soldiers in France as well as the work being done by the Y. M. C. A. was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Otto Hockmeyer, chairman of the general committee of the Red Triangle campaign, was one of the speakers. J. E. V. Coburn, Jr., gave a talk on "Overs the Top." W. R. Gumb outlined the campaign plan. Other speakers included, Prof. L. A. Olney, president of the Y. M. C. A.

The toastmaster of the evening was J. Milton Washburn, the president, student for 1918, who introduced Prof. Louis A. Olney as the first speaker of the evening. Mr. Olney extended a hearty welcome to those present and then introduced Mr. Robinson, who spoke in part as follows:

The present is an opportune time to hold a father and son banquet, because today there has been a greater challenge thrown out to the boys of America than ever has been thrown out before. In any previous war, the boys of America have never brought together more than 2,000,000 men on both sides. Today, according to the figures of military experts, 38,000,000 people are either directly or indirectly engaged in the conflict.

The work that the Y. M. C. A. is doing for the boys in service has received the official endorsement of the governments of the allies. Not only is it necessary for the men when they are wounded—but it is important that he have something to encourage and cheer him when he is in training, and when he is in the trenches, something that will make him understand that back at home there is an organization that cares for his welfare and comfort because of the work done by the Y. M. C. A. of America in the Spanish-American war, the Boxer uprising in China, and on the Mexican border, the federal army in the Philippines, and the present European struggle, have placed no limits or hindrances upon the work of the association. Already the Y. M. C. A. was the instrument chosen by the present churches of the country as a distributing agent for their various war relief efforts—a central body through which the forces of Christianity might reach the most needy.

The tremendous challenge to the boys of today was that of earning instead of begging the total of a million dollars to be devoted to the war work. It was a work on which they might well look back with pride in future years. Without the Y. M. C. A., the war would not be won. Lord North said, and the present opportunity held out to the lads a chance to give material aid towards helping win the war for America and the allies.

Mr. Robinson told what the Y. M. C. A. is planning to do with the $55,000,000 necessary to maintain its war work during the next nine months, or until the first of July of next year. The work of the Y. M. C. A. is coming from Russia, from France, from Russia, from Italy, all asking that huts and stations of the association be established within their lines. The great work that the Y. M. C. A. was doing in the prison camps also was outlined. In the enemy countries, prisoners at these camps were poorly fed and many died from minor wounds who might have been saved with proper nourishment.

Cups and Certificates

Mr. Otto Hockmeyer, general chairman of the Y. M. C. A. campaign in this city, was then introduced and expressed his opinion that the organization would see things through to the finish.

J. E. V. Coburn, Jr., chairman of the boys' war and committee, gave a talk on "Overs the Top." At the conclusion of Mr. Coburn's remarks cups and certificates were presented to the boys who had taken the Bible study course. The cups were given to the boys in the class having the best attendance. There were three divisions of the study classes, senior, student and employed, and there were 12 teachers, four courses and 15 classes. The presentation was made by J. E. V. Coburn, Jr., and those who received the cups and certificates were as follows:

After an apparent shortage of pennies here for several days, or since the war taxes became effective, the supply is now quite plentiful. Many people, evidently thinking that a famine was imminent, hoarded the coppers, with the result that for a few days pennies were almost as scarce as sugar. Today, however, there seemed to be a preponderance of the coppers, for which merchants, car conductors and others are thankful.

Women employees of the Muskegetau mill, who have been active in Red Cross work have formed an organization to be known as the Muskegetau Club Red Cross Workers, and the following officers have been chosen: Mrs. H. The Sam Walter Foss Literary club held its meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ada Ooley, 81 Bellevue street, and after routine matters had been transacted a program of entertainment was carried out. This consisted of piano solos by Miss Alice Walker and readings by Miss Faith Doty. There was also a very interesting paper, written and read by Mrs. Sara Swan Griffin. "The Tragic Marriage of the Indian Princess, Westamoo."

Another service flag was flown to the breezes this morning in Merrimack square when a large banner, well dotted with stars, made its appearance from one of the windows of the D. J. Page building.

SERG. PETRIE REPORTS TO THE MAYOR

The first written report of Sergt. Petrie to the mayor since he was appointed as head of the liquor squad after noon and in part as follows:

"Only as a last resort do we ask to send a woman away to some institution. If it is possible to get her work somewhere—and we enumerate the places where in all likelihood she can get work—then we do so. Four of those who have been found leading questionable lives have been placed in jobs."

If there is a chance of the woman changing her mode of life, if there is a chance of her doing something which is useful and in the community, then we want to give her that chance. In some instances we have learned of parents, and have communicated with them about their daughters. Still others we have dealt more sternly with and have endeavored to tell them that Lowell is no place for them, and that they must leave. Only when we see that it is incorrigible do we seek to have her sent away."

From October 12 to November 5 the work accomplished by the squad is as follows: from the sergeant's report: Levee and lascivious women brought before the court, 12; number of girls brought before the court for leading idle and vicious lives, five; number of cases of lewd and lascivious cohabitation, two; cases of fornication, two; number of persons brought to station and warned, 16; number of girls sent home to their parents, four; number of women warned on the street, 12; number of persons brought before the court for illegal sale of liquor, four.

Break a Cold In Few Hours

First dose of "Tape's Cold Compound" relieves the cold and gripper misery—Don't stay stuffed up!

Relief comes instantly.
A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end gripper misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or lungs.
It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops watery discharge or nose running, relieves chest heaviness, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.
Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Tape's Cold Compound," which costs only a few cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.

number brought before the court for keeping liquor, two; number brought before the court for drunkenness and delivery of liquor to soldiers, 18.

The decrease of arrests for drunkenness is shown in the report comparing the first six days of each month for the past four months. The comparative figures follow: First six days of August, 55; first six days of September, 71; first six days of October, 69, and first six days of November, 48.

GOVERNMENT HEADSTONE FOR VETERAN'S GRAVE

A regular meeting of the cemetery commissioners was held at city hall last evening with President Rigby in the chair. Frank B. Flanders, who has charge of the veterans' graves in the city cemeteries, asked the right to place a government headstone in a lot which was sold some years ago, this lot having a monument on it at the present time.

Chairman Rigby said the lot was purchased in 1900, and the veterans whose remains are now in the lot was buried in 1863 and for over 50 years no care had been given the lot. The lot was sold several years ago by the then board of cemetery trustees and since that time two burials have taken place there.

Mr. Flanders moved to have the monument removed from the lot, but Mr. Rigby objected on the ground that the monument is very heavy and would be hard to move, and he also stated that it might be possible that the soldier was not buried there, for the city clerk told him the records cannot always be relied upon as to burials. It was finally voted to lay the matter on the table for one month.

Mr. Flanders also informed the board that the remains of Col. Shipley are buried in a lot that is not well kept. He also informed the board that a woman who committed suicide is buried in the same lot, while the remains of two foreigners are also in the same lot. Mr. Flanders said he intended placing a government stone over the grave of Col. Shipley.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Industry Council, Royal Arcanum, was held last night. Regent Thomas H. Wilson presiding. A communication was received from Grand Regent Frederick A. Gould of Boston, inviting the council to hold a union class initiation on Wednesday evening, Dec. 13. Two applications for membership were received and referred and one new member was admitted. During the course of the evening it was voted to hold a class initiation on Dec. 19 and a committee of 25 members was appointed by the regent to make the necessary arrangements. Under the good of the order remarks were made by Harvey J. Chase, Nell A. Clark, George H. Desrochers, Arthur Jodoin and Charles H. O'Donnell. At the close of the meeting the orator passed the cigars and a social hour was enjoyed.

At a well attended meeting of Centralville lodge, I.O.O.F., last evening, the first degree was conferred upon two candidates from Highland, Veritas and Oberlin lodges. Notwithstanding that many changes have been rendered necessary in the personnel of the degree staff, the work was performed in a highly creditable manner. After the degree, high refreshments were served. The grand officers of the Massachusetts grand lodge are to visit Centralville lodge on the night of Nov. 28.

FAIRFAX CLUB DANCE

The Fairfax club of Lawrence will hold their annual dance Friday evening in Eagles' hall, Lawrence. Special arrangements have been made and the boys are working hard to make it the success that their dances have been in the past. Millington's famous Stanley orchestra will furnish music.

A particularly interesting Woman's Page appears in the Sunday Supplement which is given away free with Saturday's Sun.

THE RED TRIANGLE THE FOOD CONSERVATION CAMPAIGN

Preparations for the celebration to mark the opening of the Red Triangle campaign in this city are fast coming to a head and from present indications, next Saturday will be a gala day in the Spindle City.

About 160 Lowell soldiers from Camp Devens will arrive in this city at 1:45 at the Middlesex street station, and from then on until late in the evening there will be one of the most patriotic displays that has ever inaugurated, a money raising campaign. From the station the men will march to the Textile school campus in Moody street, headed by a division band of 35 pieces. The route will be via Middlesex, Central, Merrimack and Moody streets.

At the campus a football game between the Textile school eleven and one representing the supply train of Camp Devens will be staged at 2:30 and from comments on both sides of the trenches the battle should be a hot one.

After the game the men will be allowed to go to their homes or spend their time as they wish. The Red Cross canteen in Merrimack street will be ready to provide the necessities of the inner man.

At 7:15 the thread of the celebration will be taken up again, when the soldiers and the band will form at the Y. M. C. A. and the line of march laid out to the army in Westford street. Upon arrival here a mass meeting will be held in the interest of the Red Triangle campaign.

An excellent list of speakers has been secured, and most prominent among them will be Allan McKenna of Scotland, who has been serving in the French trenches. He will describe war as it is and tell how it may be softened to some extent by the work of the Red Triangle. Mr. Otto Hookmeyer, president of the Mayor O'Donnell will be one of the speakers. Members of the State Guard companies will perform guard duty at the armory.

The arrangements for the day are in the hands of a committee headed by Paul B. Chandler.

Tomorrow evening in Memorial hall the opening banquet of the Red Triangle campaign will be held and this will be the first opportunity which the members of the committee have to meet each other. Plans for the organization of the campaign will be discussed and the great desideratum of the evening's affair will be to have the women learn just what part each one is expected to play. Otto Hookmeyer, general manager of the campaign, will preside, and prominent speakers will address the workers.

On Sunday the ministers of the various churches of the city will tell their parishioners of the campaign, and on Monday the work will be on a full swing. The first report will be made at noon Monday at a luncheon to be held at the Y. M. C. A. From then on luncheon and reports will come daily at noon.

ANOTHER CHANCE TO HELP THE SOLDIER BOYS

The 76th division, headquarters troop, at Ayer, will conduct a minstrel show and dance in Memorial hall, next Wednesday evening, and a record crowd is expected to attend as it may be the last opportunity afforded Lowell people to see their boys in the troop before they leave.

In this division there are but 113 men, seven from Lowell. But in the number 78 New England cities and towns are represented. This fact was added to the disadvantage of the troop in regard to aid from friends at home. While there has been much individual assistance rendered, no organized effort in behalf of the troop has been made.

The Lowell boys in this troop, deserve just as much honor and help as those connected with the other branches. The committee has come to town today, consisting of Messrs. McPherson and Bailey, was very cordially received by those asked for assistance. The committee is going around the city soliciting advertisements for the dance order, and was much encouraged with today's results.

The captain of the troop told the boys that they would have to get busy as orders to move were expected within a short time. This is the reason for arranging the affair so soon after the party of last night.

The minstrel show will be furnished by an "All Girl" cast, and a program of rare excellence has been arranged. John J. Townsend, who so successfully directed the minstrel show conducted by the Matthew Temperance institute last season, has volunteered his services to act in a similar capacity for the coming show, and he will hold a rehearsal of the talent in the South hall tonight. Among those to appear in the show are many of Lowell's leading artists.

Following the concert, general dancing will be in order, with Broderick's orchestra furnishing music.

All Food—No Waste!

A gathering of Lowell women which practically filled Colonial hall listened to addresses yesterday afternoon by members of the Lowell women's council of national defense and also by officers of the state organization of the same name in the interest of the food conservation campaign.

Mrs. Ames spoke of the work which the women's committee had done in Lowell the past summer and mentioned the public market and public safety canning station as examples of what women can do to aid the nation at war. She also told of the successful canvass of Lowell women which has made it the center of the food conservation campaign. To Mrs. James H. Carmichael she paid a high tribute for the excellent manner in which the latter had directed the canning station and public market last summer.

Women came from all over the state to get pointers from the Lowell women's council. Mrs. Ames and too many could not be given to Mrs. Carmichael who took upon her shoulders the task of directing the enterprise for long and at times discouraging moments.

The meeting was called shortly after 3 o'clock and Mrs. Butler Ames presided. Mayor James E. O'Donnell was introduced as the first speaker and made an earnest plea for co-operation of all Lowell women in the attempts which were being made in the line of conservation of food. He said of the inestimable value which work which has already been done by the women's committee on food conservation in this city and said that such work was just as essential to victory as the fighting of the soldiers in the field.

"Before Sir Douglas Haig made his historical drive several months ago," said Mrs. Ames, "the British government he was assured by the British government he would need all the equipment which he would need for the drive from the people of England."

The men and women in the factories and shops and on the farms were ready to give their utmost to help the great general in his drive. It should be ready to back up fighting men to the limit. And one of the best ways of doing this is to take part in just such work as that entailed in the food conservation campaign.

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, head of the women's unit of the Massachusetts public safety committee, was the next speaker. She said facts and figures concerning the food conservation plans in this state. She said that co-operation was the great desideratum in the campaign and said that the women's council of national defense was working in conjunction with the public safety committee. She complimented the women of Lowell on the excellent work they had already accomplished and urged for a continuance of the good work.

"We consider Lowell one of the banner cities of the nation," she said, "and we want every woman of this city to become a member of our great army in this food conservation campaign." Mrs. James H. Carmichael spoke briefly on the work of the Lowell committee and among the others scheduled to speak were Miss Sarah L. Arnold of Cambridge, Miss Annie Root, state director of the food conservation campaign, Robert F. Marden and others.

Present at this afternoon's meeting were many domestic science teachers from the public schools, and the School and Society league of the State Normal school, was represented by Miss Alice Dancy, president, and Miss Lucy Desmond.

Miss Arnold spoke much in the same vein as the other speakers and emphasized the fact that every woman—not one of them—must help in the present campaign.

Mrs. George M. Heath, chairman of the Lowell women's council of national defense, told of what had already been done in the way of the organization. The city has been divided into districts and a number of sub-divisions. Leaders have been appointed in two of these, Mrs. Marjorie L. Leiverson and Mrs. Johnson in Ayer City. She said that interpreters would be needed in many districts and that this was a chance for capable women to come forward. Mrs. Heath announced that the Food's club had made arrangements to give a course of six demonstrations under the direction of Miss Webster and that this course was open to all women and the cost was only 15 cents for the course.

LIGHT DOCKET IN POLICE COURT—ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE

Joseph Sewhan appeared before Judge Enright in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Mary Palecki.

The testimony brought out during the course of the trial convinced the court that it was one of those neighborhood rows in which the parties on both sides juggled with the truth and after listening to testimony for about an hour Judge Enright said: "I cannot believe either side" and found the defendant not guilty and ordered his discharge.

The case of Philippe R. Bourque, charged with larceny of a cap from Edward Cawley, was continued until Tuesday.

George Beaudette entered a plea of guilty to a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Henry Beaudry. It is alleged that the former entered Beaudry's house yesterday and after a words were punched Beaudry and then jumped on him. Beaudry, whose both eyes were badly discolored, said that he did nothing to cause Beaudette to assault him. Beaudette offered no defense, stating that he came from Brattleboro last Tuesday. He was found guilty and a fine of $20 was imposed.

John H. Booth, of Everett, was charged with operating an automobile without a license, and a fine of $10 was imposed after the court found him guilty.

Matthew Garrigan, a fourth offender, entered the police station yesterday afternoon and at his own request was locked up. This morning he said he would like to go away for a while in order to straighten out and the court sentenced him to one month in jail.

Thomas Hosty, charged with drunkenness, was fined $10.

In making the announcement, Sec. This is the American government's first definite announcement of the purposes of the meeting.

Kept Secret Till They Landed
Even the fact that the Americans to participate in the conference had been named had been carefully kept secret until they were through the submarine zone and safe on British soil.

The part that the United States is to play in framing the great allied program is emphasized by the fact that the mission, headed by President Wilson's closest personal friend and adviser, has the highest officers of the army and navy.

Sec. Lansing made this statement: "The government of the United States will participate in the war conference at Paris with a view to perfecting a more complete co-ordination of the activities of the allied nations in order to attain the highest efficiency. This is the American government's first definite announcement of the purposes of the meeting."

EXEMPTED MEN ARE HELPING

Special to The Sun
SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 7.—Exempted men in Seattle started a national movement when they organized a club for the purpose of keeping in touch with soldiers from their district in training at Camp Lewis, near Tacoma.

Their plan is now receiving the hearty support of government officials, who are urging its general adoption throughout the country. Originating in one district here, the idea became popular overnight, and enthusiastic boosters predict that it will be only a short time until the scheme is nationalized.

"We don't intend to lose our interest in camp life just because we happened to be exempted," is the attitude of Seattle organizers. "We were exempted from army duty but not from serving our country and the men who will do the fighting."

The plan, as worked out here, may be used as a pattern by any town in the nation.

Exempted men in the various draft districts of a city form these clubs to look after the personal welfare of Seattle organizers. "We were exempted from army duty but not from serving our country and the men who will do the fighting."

AMERICAN STEAMER SUNK ---4 LOST, 13 MISSING

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The American steamship Rochester was torpedoed and sunk at dusk on Nov. 2.

Four sailors are known to have lost their lives in the sinking of the Rochester. One boat with the second mate and 13 men is missing.

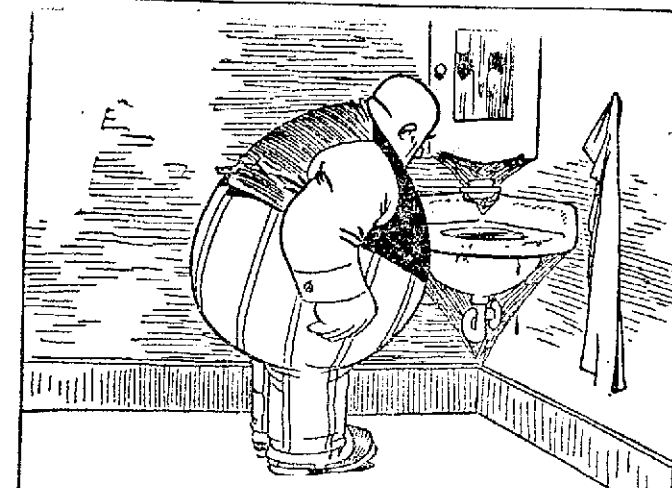

The captain and 22 men have been landed at Buncrana. One lifeboat with nine survivors reached Ross Port, in the county of Mayo, yesterday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The American steamship Rochester plied between Baltimore and British ports. She was in command of Capt. Erik Kokeritz and carried a crew of about 35 men.

The Rochester, formerly the Yaguez was built at Ecorse, Mich., in 1912. She registered 2551 tons gross and was 247 feet long.

The Rochester, one of the four American steamships to run successfully the German submarine blockade, following the declaration of unrestricted submarine warfare, was owned by Purvis, Wither & Co., a British firm, and was in the British admiralty service. When last heard from, the ship was on her way to this port, according to her owners.

STRIKE AT WATERTOWN ARSENAL SPREADS

WATERTOWN, Nov. 8.—Carpenters, electricians, plumbers, steamfitters and laborers today joined in the strike started yesterday by structural iron workers to enforce closed shop conditions on new construction at the government arsenal here. Nearly 300 men failed to report, Col. T. C. Dickson, the commandant said.

The strikers, according to officials, are members of Boston unions, men affiliated with local organizations remaining at work. One of the three contracting firms which employs only union men has not been affected.

"COLDS" GENERALLY COVER MULTITUDE OF SANITARY SINS

The phrase "common colds," like "charity," covers a multitude of sanitary sins.

Curiously enough the name has been applied to a group of afflictions which far from depending absolutely upon cold are frequently the direct result of living in close, overheated surroundings having a lower relative humidity than the driest desert known to man.

The word "colds" means an acute infection of the lining membranes of the nose, throat, tonsils and larger bronchial tubes.

The process, however, may be even more extensive and amount to a general infection of the entire body.

All of the breathing apparatus excepting the smaller terminal portions in the lungs may be involved, and as a matter of fact the disease may, and often does spread to these, producing pneumonia.

In this connection it may be pointed out that pneumonia kills more people in the United States than any other disease excepting tuberculosis and heart disease.

Many pneumonias begin as common colds. Colds do not produce tuberculosis, yet unfortunately, what is considered as a cold may be in reality the first symptom of the white plague.

The causes of colds are many and not entirely understood. In every case, however, they are dependent upon the growth and activity of living germs which are always received from other people.

Almost everybody harbors disease germs in the mouth and nose, and these, under favorable conditions, will produce a cold. Their attack, however, may be ward off indefinitely if the body's resistance is maintained by good health.

Health Questions Answered

C. E.: "Would you advise a twenty-four hour fast every now and then to produce a cold?" It depends largely upon one's physical condition, but as a general rule an extremely light diet or a fast for 24 hours gives the digestive organs a needed rest and proves beneficial to the entire system.

DEMORALIZATION SWEEP STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Demoralization swept the stock market today when the news of the overthrow of the Kerensky government in Russia reached Wall street and other financial centers throughout the country. Almost every stock of importance tumbled to the lowest prices for the year and in many cases for a much longer period.

On the curb Russian bonds dropped to the lowest point ever recorded, Russian exchange was at a new discount, Italian exchange was the weakest since the war, and even Liberty 3 1/2s were not exempt from the onslaught on prices, declining to the new minimum of 93 1/4.

BUSINESS BRISK AT WAR WORK HEADQUARTERS

Mrs. Thomas Doe and a committee of assistants were in charge of the Red Cross canteen for soldiers at the war work headquarters in Merrimack street today. The work of the canteen is progressing favorably and during the evening the attendance is greatest. The soldiers' lounge upstairs is also filling the wants of visiting fighting men to a great extent and provisions have been made to accommodate a large number of men from Ayer next Saturday night.

The war work headquarters as a whole present a renovated appearance to the left of the entrance and nearby is a table piled high with literature concerning food and food conservation. The booklets are printed not only in English but in a number of foreign languages, and are ready for distribution to any woman who takes the trouble to request them. Miss Crosskill is at her desk daily from 9 to 5 and is ready to discuss or explain any phase of the conservation movement which is at present puzzling local housekeepers.

Predominant over all the activity are the preparations being made for the coming Red Triangle campaign. The work room has been selected as the campaign headquarters and a corps of workers are busy working out the innumerable details connected with such an undertaking. Today, letters were sent out to relatives and friends of Lowell men in the national service urging them to help explain the purpose of the Red Triangle to their friends. Vast quantities of advertising matter are received daily and this has to be sorted and distributed.

If you don't believe there's a war going on just drop into 119 Merrimack street and watch, look and listen.

PRICE OF BREAD TO BE LOWER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—An attempt to reduce bread prices will be the next move of the food administration in assuming control of the principal food commodities.

At the request of Administrator Hoover, President Wilson will issue within a few days an order directing that every baker in the country be required to do business under federal license.

Rules and regulations governing the baking industry already have been drawn up by the food administration and will be put into operation as soon as the executive order is out. They will provide a standardized loaf of probably two sizes and standardization of the bread content. A bread formula has been selected and bakers will be permitted to use no other.

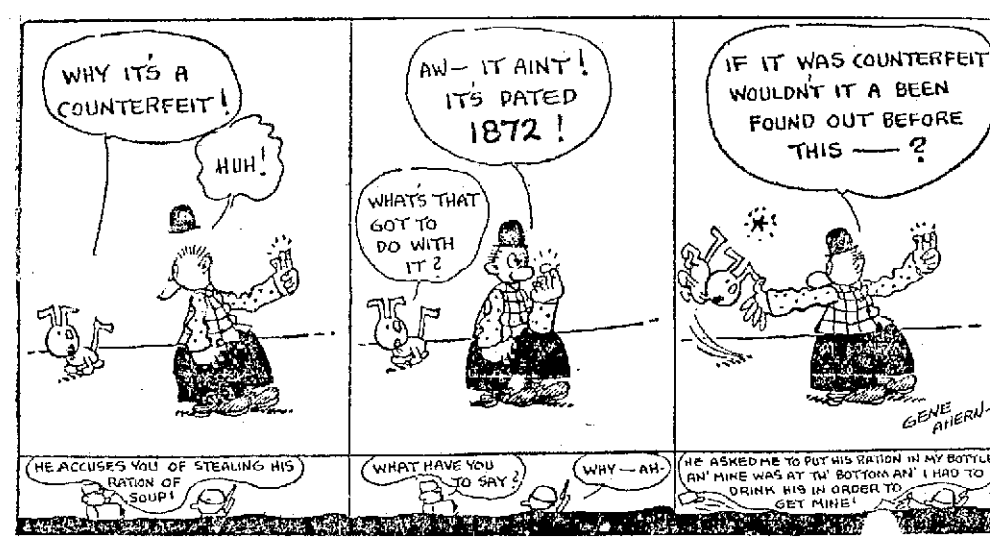

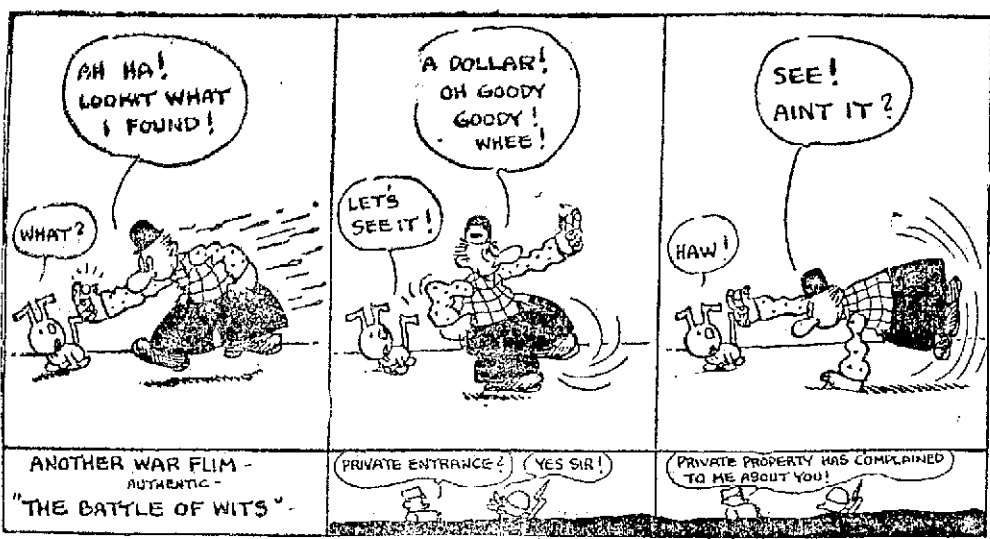

The new war bread will contain a reduced amount of fats, as both the lard and milk content will be cut down considerably. It probably will be produced in 20-ounce and 10-ounce loaves. No prices will be fixed outright, but the regulations will probably be charged.

Consumers' committees have reported to the administration that in most places loaves of this size can be sold at 10 and 5 cents respectively.

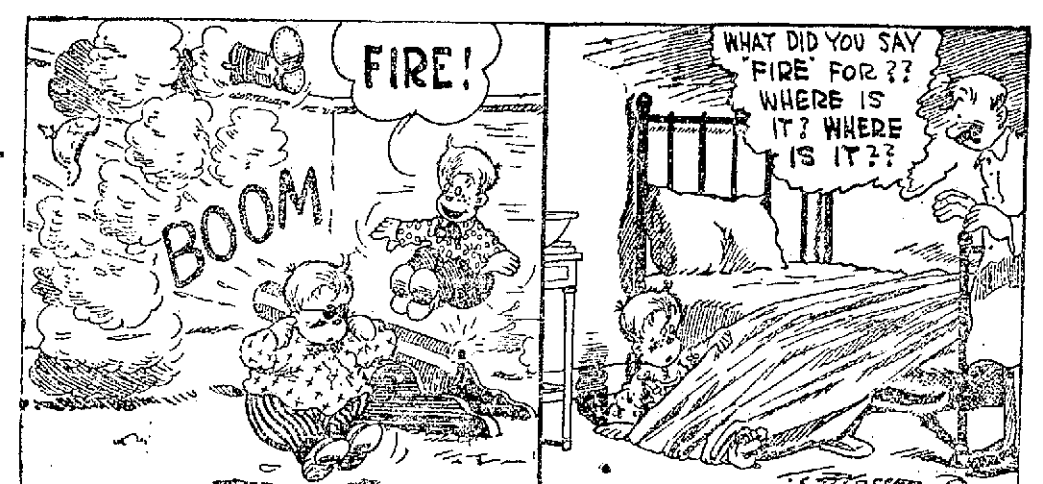

Food administration officials are giving serious consideration to the situation created by the short wheat crop and it is believed likely that before many months bakers may be required to add a certain amount of corn flour in baking bread. Dietetic experts now are working out formulas containing wheat flour substitutes.

SPORTING NEWS

Martel, last year's champ, is rolling up to his usual standard, as his triple of 356 on Tuesday night indicates.

The White Ways are traveling at a fast clip, and look like a very serious contender for the hunting this year.

Manager "Jerry" Murphy is open to congratulations for the excellent showing which his team has made in its games so far.

Lowell Five basketball team will line up against C. D. again next Tuesday evening in Associate hall in the second game of the series.

The Lowell polo team will appear with red and black uniforms. The order for the suits has already been placed and will be rushed along.

The Lowell high football team will play in Lawrence Thanksgiving day but it is probable that the Indians will stage a contest for the holiday in this city.

Lowell Holy Cross men are also expected to attend the game in large numbers. The game starts at 2.30 sharp and this necessitates Lowell fans taking the 12.15 train.

Walter Jewett, captain and lead-off man for the Crescents in the City league, is going like a house on fire this season, and now stands among the league's leading rollers.

Last year's champions, the Kimbells, are out to repeat and have made a very good start. In this week's game they have rolled over the team rolled over the 300 mark, which looks like a real challenge.

The Lowell Five basketball team is sleeping at a lively pace and expects to pile up a great record during the playing season. To date the team has met and defeated two very fast teams, which is quite an accomplishment for a quintet that is playing its first season together.

It is only natural that there should be an abundance of athletic material among the soldiers at Camp Devens who are representative of all New England, and Lowell is going to see some rare sport this winter with the boys in the O. D. as the party of the second part.

The election of Fred Moore of Lowell as president of the new polo league is a tribute to the ability of the local "live wire." He has been one of the most enthusiastic members of the organization, and his choice as head of the league indicates that his ability was recognized by the others connected with the league.

Manchester high which played here last Saturday will line up against the strong Riverhill high team at the Riverhill next Saturday afternoon and this will be the big game of the New Hampshire school schedule. A large number of Riverhill players were at the Lowell-Manchester game last Saturday and had a good opportunity to size up their coming opponents.

Estes of the Middlesex team is showing great form in the City league. Though a "newcomer" in the majors, he is leading many of the stars of other years. His three-string total of 353 on Tuesday night was the highest of the evening, and one that will not be surpassed many times during a season. As anchor man for the Merrimacks, he is proving the right man in the right place.

The announcement yesterday that the polo league had been organized with Lowell included, was good news to the many fans in this city. The circuit is one that should prove successful, particularly with the Lawrence and Lowell members. There has always been great rivalry between these two cities, and the fact was never more forebodingly demonstrated than during the past baseball season, when Lowell was not represented in the league. The Lawrence fans lost interest in the games, with the result that the team finished the season under difficulties. Now, however, the fans in both cities are jubilant, for they see in the new polo league a resumption of that good old rivalry, and aver that the success of the league is assured.

That game between Boston college and Holy Cross at Fenway park next Saturday afternoon should prove a corker. It will decide the Catholic college football champion of the east and both teams are ready for the struggle of their lives. From past performances this year Charlie Erickson's men have a slight advantage over the Worcester warriors, but on the whole the teams should go onto the field with odds about even.

The swim was unofficial, but had the sanction of the Pacific Coast Athletic association.

HUNTINGTON SCHOOL OF HONOLULU DEFEATED BY TEXTILE SCHOOL AT FOOTBALL
The Lowell Textile school football eleven defeated the Huntington school of Honolulu at the Textile school campus yesterday afternoon by a score of 32 to 0. It was the local boys' game all the way, and the fact that Coach Moore resorted to new and untried plays in the latter half of the scrimmage was all that prevented the score from reaching or surpassing the half-century mark.

THE STRAND
Positively the official French war pictures, taken by numbers in the American Expeditionary Force, the French army, and only recently released for presentation in this country, will be one of the several pleasing features on the bill of the Strand. In the last three days of the week, commencing with matinee today, these war pictures, entitled "In the Wake of the Day," are taken at a French front, immediately after the retreat of the German army along the French front. They not only show the terrible devastation wrought but also give many graphic scenes of divisions of the French army. The pictures are paid by the management for the use of these pictures goes to the French government for use in aiding the French soldiers. See them. They are the real thing.

"The Silence Sellers" with Mme. Petrova, the great Russian screen star, will be the big photo-drama for the week. The production is a vast Metro wonderplay of mystery and intrigue, adapted by Wallace C. Clifton from the story by Blair Hall in "Shanty Stories." A feminist in the city is the role portrayed by Mme. Petrova, and in it she demonstrates that even a society woman who does not need to earn her living, may be capable of the highest and the ability to cope with a situation that is expected from the later-day feminist.

In the nick of time she saves a friend's reputation and gives her fiancé help in his career. The picture is a masterpiece of the genre. Mme. Petrova has made a specialty recently of parts calling for remarkable cleverness, taking special joy in portraying roles of women who take their full share in the battle of life. In this production she is put to her biggest test.

"A Phantom Husband" with Ruth Stonehouse as the wife will be the added feature and the Keystone comedy will be "Hula Hula Land." The travelogue will be "Big Islands as They Are." The comedy sketch will be "The Great Musical Number" which will help make the bill complete. See the best entertainment in the city for the price.

Material plans for the organization of a branch of the Junior American Red Cross in this city were discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the school teachers of Lowell in the Red Cross headquarters in Market street.

The Junior society is separate from the Red Cross but is based on the same principle. It is designed primarily to give the school children an opportunity to do their bit in the war. At yesterday's meeting the school teachers organized for New England, outlined plans for the work in Lowell, and according to present plans, the work will be done solely by the schools. The organization will not be a compulsory one but wholly voluntary.

Supt. of Schools Hugh J. Molloy is chairman of the chapter. Henry Harris, principal of the Varnum grammar school, is vice chairman. The treasurer is W. W. Denney, principal of the Morley school. Miss Ida J. Flint and Miss Fannie G. Hobbs and other members of the committee are Miss Jean M. Bennett and Miss Ruth Burke. The latter representing the adult Red Cross chapter.

There were about 150 teachers present yesterday, and those who were not on hand but would have been, are requested to get in touch with Miss Ida J. Flint, 200 Liberty street. It is probable that another meeting will be called in the near future.

About 400 people attended the first in a series of whist parties to be conducted for the benefit of St. Vincent's hospital, which was held last evening in the parish hall. CORPORATE FRANCHISE TAX IN LOWELL

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 8.—Lowell's share in the first apportionment of the taxes collected by the commonwealth from corporations through the corporate franchise tax will be approximately $25,000 more than last year, the first payment to the city totaling $191,547.10, while last year it was only $165,965.47.

The gain is largely due to the big increase in the taxes assessed upon business corporations within the city limits, the municipality obtaining a total of $123,468.57 from this source, while last year the amount was only $103,308.75. The street railway tax will net the city less than last year, because of the condition of the Bay State Street Railway company, the figures being $50,133.33 for 1917 and $7,633.24. Each of the other classes of corporations will yield to the city a revenue greater than last year. Public service corporations, other than street railways, will contribute $49,399.72, while last year they contributed $47,544.16, instead of $15,652.73.

All of these taxes, except the national bank tax, are assessed and collected in the same manner. Each is a tax upon the excess value of the stock of each corporation over and above the amount on which it is taxed last year. In distributing the taxes, however, a distinctive method is provided for each class of corporations. In the case of each corporation, the commissioner relates to the commonwealth a share of its tax proportionate to the number of shares of stock owned outside of the commonwealth. All the rest is paid to the city and town in which its plant is located, and if it has more than one place of business, the tax is pro rated according to the

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—John R. Lee and A. W. Copland of Detroit yesterday were named members of the official committee of three of the automobile industry to aid the government in applying the energies of the industry to the prosecution of the war.

Mr. Lee was named by Henry Ford and Mr. Copland by the motor accessories manufacturers. The third member of the committee will be appointed by the national automobile chamber of commerce.

Gradual conscription of a considerable part of the nation's motor manufacturing facilities for war purposes is expected to begin as soon as details can be worked out. It will be the duty of the new committee, working with the war industries board of the country, to adapt the industry to the needs of the government.

Priorities shipment orders already have indicated what industries must be expected to be called on next for direct aid in bringing victory to the American arms. Restrictions on the shipment of materials for the manufacture of furniture, pianos and pleasure vehicles, and the construction of theatres and highways were placed several weeks ago.

SOLDIERS' ROLL OF HONOR

We are compiling, to be inserted as a separate feature in the 1918 City Directory, a Lowell "Roll of Honor." This will be a list of all Lowell residents who have gone into active war service. Owing to the difficulty of compiling this list, we shall be grateful for any names sent to us, and are particularly in need of the names and rank of those who have gone out with Company M or who have enlisted away from Lowell.

BOYS FROM CAMP DEVENS AT ASSOCIATE HALL

The striking colors and olive drab uniforms was the central and predominant theme of the decorations in Associate hall last evening when the members of Supply Train Truck Co., No. 6, from Camp Devens were the sponsors of a concert and dancing party that easily reached the first line trenches in the pleasure sector.

The news of the coming engagement

PRIVATE EDWARD P. QUINN

had slipped past the censor and the people of Lowell were ready for the attack. So they crowded the spacious hall, and shortly after 8 o'clock the bombardment of happiness began with General Gaiety in command. Miss Bertha Dion was the first to go over the top with a pleasing solo and when she returned to her trench she had captured the enthusiasm of the crowd. Walter Clough proved that he was no slacker in his number, and he, too, returned a victor. Mrs. May Dillon Deberry broke through the barbed wire entanglements with a snappy song, and Miss Alice Dion went through a barrage fire and proved herself a second Haig in her particular number.

When the battle was over Mayor James E. O'Donnell appeared in Solomon's land and congratulated the performers on the excellent service which they had made. He extended felicitations to all the members of the company and especially to the Lowell boys in the unit.

At 9 o'clock a truce was declared, and general dancing began. The ham's orchestra furnished the marching numbers and the good time continued until midnight.

To Private Edward P. Quinn, floor director, must be given a major portion of credit for the victorious outcome of the engagement. He directed the attack with all the skill of a Petain and not even the exultation which the Germans must have experienced when they broke into Italy recently could have equalled the happiness of the members of the truck company as they departed for their posts last evening. The entire receipts of the affair are to be turned over to the men of the unit for their personal comfort and they should be comfortable for a few weeks to come, at any rate.

Lieut. D. E. Spaulding, the general manager of the affair, and the officer showed that he knew his man whether on the battlefield or concert hall. A number of other officers were present last evening and these included First Lieut. W. D. Jones, Second Lieut. J. B. Moody, Jr., Second Lieut. K. J. Travers, Second Lieut. J. W. Achorn, Second Lieut. D. E. Spaulding, Second Lieut. A. H. Anderson, and Second Lieut. H. W. Thorpe. Lieut. Gerald F. Deane of Lowell and Lieutenants H. H. Bignell and T. C. Lee of the Depot brigade were also present.

The officers of the dance were: General manager, Lieut. D. E. Spaulding; assistant general manager, Sergt. T. Whalen; floor director, Private E. P. Quinn; assistant floor directors, Sergt. E. J. Carver, Sergt. O. J. Howe, Priv. E. A. Sheeney, chief of camp, Priv. F. E. A. Grant, Priv. R. S. Keith; aids, all members of Truck company No. 6.

Highland hall was last evening the scene of a pretty and enthusiastic gathering, the occasion being the first military dance under the auspices of the Veritas club, a semi-military organization composed of young women of Notre Dame, the Lourdes parish.

The event proved a success in every way and reflected great credit upon the organizers.

Present at the event were about 30

members of the National army located at Camp Devens, Ayer, and they helped materially in the success of the affair. The members of the club were attired in their regulation uniforms consisting of khaki skirts and blouses, black tie and tan shoes. Miss Doyle's orchestra furnished music and the young men and young women enjoyed general dancing from the early evening until a seasonable hour.

During intermission an exhibition drill was given by the club under the command of Capt. Albert Bergeron, instructor and the "soldiers" were warmly applauded for their fine work.

At the close of the drill Capt. Bergeron presented a handsome diamond stickpin, the presentation being made by Sergt. R. H. Spooner of Ayer, in behalf of the club members.

In the course of the evening entertainment numbers were given by Edward Handley of the Honey Boy Four, while refreshments were served. The committee in charge of the event was headed by Miss Emma Clement, chairman, and Miss Olive Lemire, captain of the military girls.

A committee was appointed to investigate the advisability of the association's renting club rooms which could be used not only for the purpose of the association's members but also as show rooms for traveling jewelry salesmen. A report will be made at the next meeting.

L. M. Smith of the New Haven Clock Co. spoke on radio and its use in time of war. He said that the employment of radio was only in its infant stages and that as the war goes on and the manifold uses of the element become apparent its value to the jewelry industry will increase proportionately. At the conclusion of his address Mr. Smith was elected an honorary member of the association.

Mr. Hutchins, manager of the city directory, spoke on the improvements which have been and are being made in the modern city directory and the value of these changes to such business houses as those conducted by the jewelers.

The question of joint advertising by members of the association was brought up and laid on the table until the next meeting. The secretary was instructed to investigate a proposition advanced by the Jewelers' Mutual Insurance Co.

An invitation to join the association was extended to S. Greenwall. The following members spoke on the advantages to be derived from membership in the association: Frank Ricard, David Harlow, J. A. Fillion, J. B. Lytle.

GRATIFICATION EXPRESSED IN LONDON PAPERS OVER JAPANESE-AMERICAN AGREEMENT

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Details of the Japanese-American agreement are displayed prominently in today's newspapers, but editorial comment is restricted to a few papers. The point emphasized is Germany's agency in past misunderstanding and animosity between the two nations. Gratification is expressed that the period of mistrust has ended.

WOODROW WILSON.

"I have been given the opportunity to serve mankind as we once served ourselves in the great day of our Declaration of Independence, by taking up arms against a tyranny that threatened to master and debase men everywhere and joining with other free peoples in demanding for all the nations of the world what we then demanded and obtained for ourselves. In this day of the revelation of our duty not only to defend our own rights as a nation but to defend also the rights of free men throughout the world, there has been vouchsafed us in full and inspiring measure the resolution and spirit of united action. We have been brought to one mind and purpose. A new vigor of common counsel and common action has been revealed in us. We should especially thank God that in such circumstances, in the midst of the greatest enterprise the spirits of men have ever entered upon, we have, if we but observe a reasonable and practicable economy, abundance with which to supply the needs of those associated with us as well as our own. A new light shines about us. The greatest duties of a new day awaken a new and greater national spirit in us. We shall never again be divided or wonder what stuff we are made of.

"And while we render thanks for these things, let us pray Almighty God that in all humbleness of spirit we may look always to Him for guidance; that we may be kept constant in the spirit and purpose of service; that by His grace our minds may be directed and our hands strengthened; and that in His good time liberty and security and peace and the comradeship of a common justice may be vouchsafed all the nations of the earth.

"Wherefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people throughout the land to cease upon that day from their ordinary occupations and in their several homes and places of worship to render thanks to God, the Great Ruler of nations.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.
